SPANISH REBELS PLAN MONARCHY

150 FAMILIES TO VIE FOR HOMES

Realtors Claim Shortage
Here Most Acute in Many Years

Love or money won't get you one. There simply are no houses for rent, and very few for sale. Santa Ana is in the grip of its most acute housing shortage in years. The situation was revealed with considerable emphasis today, when Major Theodore Wyman, jr., army engineer in charge of this district, announced that 150 new families, composed of army engineers, draughtsmen, office workers and technicians would move to Santa Ana when work on the $13,000,000 Orange county flood control program is started.

And Santa Ana's realtors reported that if they did they'd have to live in tents. Initial Work Done. Assessors doing preliminary work prior to the purchase of lands by the county for use as rights-of-way and flood easements have finished their office work and gone into the field, Supervisor W. C. Jerome said today, indicating that start of work on the program will be under way by the first of the year, as predicted.

With the start of work will come at least 150 new families, with no place to live. Realtors report houses for rent at an unprecedented premium. A 2 per cent rental condition existing a year ago has diminished to.

SINGLE TAX OFF BALLOT

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—The state supreme court ruled today yesterday that proposition No. 1, described by opposing groups as a "single tax" and "sales tax repeal," measure, respectively, is not entitled to a place on the November ballot.

The court, in a 4-to-1 decision, granted the petition of Mrs. Gertrude Clark of Sutter Creek, that Secretary of State Jordan be enjoined from putting the proposition on the ballot.

Opponents of the measure charged in arguments before the court that the title of the measure is "misleading," and induced those who signed the petitions to believe they were urging repeal of sales taxes, without making clear that a heavy tax on land was to be substituted.

Justice Emmet Seawell wrote a dissenting opinion.

Man Plunges 86 Floors to Death

NEW YORK. (AP)—While a half dozen nightseers looked on, Robert Francis Erskine, 23, Bronxville, N. Y., leaped to his death from the 86th floor observation platform of the Empire State building today. Waving goodbye to the onlookers, he called "So long folks" and jumped. The body narrowly missed several passersby.

Blacks Line Up For Death

NEW YORK. (AP)—More memories of a war correspondent, retreating from that business:

Sights you see just once . . . too often . . . black of night on the edge of the aviation field in Addis Ababa . . . 50 shivering, dirty, smelling Ethiopians stretched in a line between two ropes, one in front, one in back, held taut so none can fall too soon . . . a hundred other Ethiopians, many of them women, in another group, screaming, wailing, forced to watch . . .

Beam lights pour down from trucks 30 yards away, lighting the scene as if it were day . . . two machine guns between the trucks

Who Pays Taxes? You Do!

They May be Hidden, But We All Share Cost

By BOB GUILD

This is payday. The fellow sitting next to me is getting sore. "Why is it," asks he, "that I never get a full paycheck? What do they have to tax the fellow that never paid taxes before?"

The wise old fellow in the corner sat up.

"You pay 'em, all right," I pay 'em," the fellow sitting next to me asked. "I don't own anything. I don't make enough money for income taxes—I'm just a guy on a salary—I carry my own insurance. Why should I have to pay this social security tax?"

"You pay 'em all right," the wise old fellow said.

So we looked, off hand. The fellow sitting next to me has a wife and two children. He earns $1500 a year, which is no small pumpkin, what with one thing and another. Plenty of people don't even come close to that.

Saturday before payday he had kind of spree. He bought a new shirt and two pairs of socks, five gallons of gas, a package of cigarettes and a cigar, and took his family to a show that night, besides eating his three squares. We figured it up and he spent $7.35 that day—and only 41 cents in taxes—10 cents in sales taxes, 20 cents in gas tax, and 11 cents tax on his 15-cent cigarettes.

"Well, what'd I tell you?" the fellow sitting next to me said. "That ain't much!"

"Sure," the wise old fellow said. "But you pay 'em."

On his monthly gas and electricity bills the fellow sitting next to me paid a state corporation franchise tax of 4 per cent on the net income of the corporations, and a federal electrical energy tax of 3 per cent of his electricity bill, together with a franchise tax. He paid on his automobile a $3 license tax, and the state collected another tax at $1.75 per $100 of the actual value—in this case, $14.

"You pay 'em," the wise old fellow said.

We looked again, and discovered (Please Turn to Page 21, Col. 2)

WILL LAUNCH OPERATIONS SEPT. 15

Lease Signed on Building
For Three Year Period
By Modesto Man

Launching of the largest chili-drying establishment in California at Huntington Beach, to open about Sept. 15, was announced today. The factory building of the old Pacific Oilcloth and Linoleum concern was leased today for the purpose to Frank Chapman of Modesto.

Chapman will start renovating the structure immediately and plans to spend at least $10,000 preparing the building for drying operations, in which he uses a new system of treatment.

Big Signup. Chapman has signed up the majority of pepper growers in Orange and Los Angeles counties for a three-year period, it was reported. The lease on the building runs for the same number of years.

The factory building is located in the center of the old Huntington Beach oil field and is 340 by 70 feet in size, covering an area of 23,800 feet floor space. It is adjacent to some of the best chili pepper growing territory in the county.

Leasing of the structure marks another step in the interesting history of the linoleum company, which was formed almost 20 years ago by a group of Huntington Beach and Santa Ana men, headed by T. B. Talbert as president.

Oil Income. The company started actual manufacturing operations, but in 1920 oil was discovered on the property and the plant was shut down. Since that time, although the factory produced nothing, stockholders have received sizeable checks through oil royalties.

Three wells are producing on the factory property, while the company now owns three additional producers in other parts of the field. The latter wells were purchased from profits of the original three.

Rent from the old factory will add to income of organizers of the company, who have learned they can make more money by shutting down their plant and leasing their property to others than by running at full production.

STRIKER GUILTY OF ASSAULT

In 39 minutes yesterday afternoon a superior court jury found Severo Ornelas, Mexican, guilty of assault. Superior Judge James L. Allen will sentence the prisoner Sept. 1.

Ornelas was found guilty of striking M. A. Patterson, citrus grove guard, over the head with an iron bar on July 6 in one of a series of riotous outbursts of the citrus strike. The jury retired at 4:04 p. m. and returned at 4:43 p. m. with the guilty verdict. The maximum penalties are one year in the county jail, 10 years in the state penitentiary, or $5000 fine.

SAM SHADES ZIONCHECK Solon Discards His Shoes

Congressman Sam L. Collins may not be another Zioncheck, but he doesn't mind running around in his bare feet!

Congressman Sam proved that fact yesterday at Balboa, when he became excited about a fish. To get the story straight—first, he went fishing.

And, second, he didn't catch anything. Except, perhaps, a shark, but sharks don't count. Political "pull" didn't help the congressman a bit. But he did watch another "Sam," his fishing partner, Sam Kraemer, jr., popular Placentia rancher, pull in a large marlin swordfish while angling from Balboa yesterday. The congressional boat was the first of the fleet to enter the harbor with swordfish flag flying. A large crowd gathered.

The fish came out of the boat first. And then came the congressman, in his bare feet. He paddled around the dock while the catch was being weighed, apparently oblivious to splinters and other foreign substances. And then they loaded the catch into Sam's car. He climbed in, too. He didn't exactly hang his bare feet out of the window, but an observing spectator could still see that the congressman was going home shoeless.

ROBOT PICKS BAR DODGES WALNUTS POLITICS

Irvine Company Tests
Device Which Would Replace Men

A squat, shovel-nosed juggernaut may displace thousands of Orange county Mexican families in the walnut industry before so very many years. Two of the machines arrived here yesterday. The juggernaut is the pioneer fruit harvester, given a test at the Irvine ranch yesterday. It is well on the way to the time when it may be put into general commercial use.

15 Acres Daily. Battleship gray in color, the contrivance may prove a serious problem for Mexicans, who now fill in the time between orange picking seasons by putting the whole family to work in the walnut orchards. Because the machine can cover 15 acres a day at the cost of a one-man-operated tractor. It does a good job, too.

The gadget is a queer looking beast. It stands a little more than four feet high and has a six-foot wheelbase. It runs on mammoth rubber tractor tires, beginning like a street sweeper and ending like the side of a wheat harvester.

Sacks Nuts. At the prow—if walnut harvesters have prows—is a covered section of intricate harrow discs and metal "fingers." The harrow blades are close together, with the "fingers" in between. They scoop up the walnuts, grasp them firmly, and deposit them on a conveyor belt as the machine moves over the ground. By the time the walnut gets to the other end, it's been cleaned by a series of wire brushes which extend down almost to the surface of the belt. Reaching the end of the trail, the nuts drop into sacks.

On Market Soon. That goes on all day, with a minimum of expense and a maximum of production, company representatives say.

All this, as soon as the machines are put on the market in a year or so, may begin to make a great difference to the Mexicans. Even with the present handicapping, county relief cases reach their peak in the late fall, according to records.

Teachers Plan Hearst Boycott

NEW YORK. (AP)—The Rev. Dr. Jerome Davis, president of the American Federation of Teachers, said today the federation had adopted a "strong resolution" concerning William Randolph Hearst. The resolution, Dr. Davis said, provided that the federation form a central and local committees to "organize a boycott against Hearst newspapers and all other agencies of communication under his control," and to oppose candidates "whose principles and program are those of Hearst." The resolution was adopted Aug. 21 at the federation's national convention in Philadelphia.

They Win War

SPAIN AT A GLANCE. The rebels (Fascists) announce plans for restoration of the monarchy with military dictatorship if they win.

Rebel radio broadcasts received in Morocco declare position of the government is precarious. Government troops beat off violent attack of 1000 rebels at Irún.

Spanish refugees in France report 100 rebels executed in Madrid in reprisal for prisoners' attempt to burn jail.

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press) BURGOS, Spain. — The rebel high command mapped plans for restoration of the monarchy with military dictatorship today, announced a new bombardment of Madrid and strengthened defenses against a surprise advance on this Fascist headquarters by loyalists.

A military dictatorship will be constituted "indefinitely" to "exterminate" all loyalist elements and rule the country "without any parliament whatsoever," high officials of the Fascist junta asserted. Then, they said, will come a plebiscite to determine upon a restoration of the House of Asturias.

Close collaboration with Germany and Italy, "friendly nations" which Fascist leaders said have stood by the army in the present civil war, would be maintained, they declared.

Airplanes and hangars of the Socialist Spanish regime at Madrid were destroyed in the new bombardment yesterday, the Fascists said. (Rebel planes bombed the Cuatro Vientos and Getafe airbases of Madrid today, but the (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

Women Always Know Best

Women have an instinctive knowledge of the right things. And it is to them that civilization and culture owe the debt of progress. That is why it is flattering to know that women are so highly pleased with The Journal these days. Many women readers tell us how much they enjoy the society news, club notes, recipes, beauty and health articles and household information which they find only in The Journal. Glance through The Journal's 24 pages today, paying special attention to items of interest to women. You'll agree then that the ladies are right when they say: "We prefer The Journal."

OTHER AREAS WANT MWD WATER

Finley Tells City Group Two Counties Seek New Supply

If Orange county doesn't want Metropolitan water, Ventura and San Diego counties do.

Col. S. H. Finley, Santa Ana, startled members of the Orange County League of Municipalities with that announcement at a meeting last night in Newport Beach, when explaining a proposal that the county join with the Metropolitan Water district for importation of Colorado river water.

Colonel Finley also hinted that the price for water brought here might be lower than that now charged by local irrigation companies, adding that the Colorado water would guarantee a permanent supply for ranchers.

Cost Per Acre
The speaker explained that, if the total cost of the huge aqueduct project, approximately $220,000,000, were to be paid off in one year, the owner of a high class orchard, assessed at $600 per acre, would pay only $74.40 per acre to obtain a perpetual paid-up water right, with the only expense from that time payment of operating costs. Owners of bean land would pay about $8.80 per acre, he added.

Colonel Finley also suggested the possibility of construction of a second aqueduct to the Colorado river if the present allocation were all used. He explained that when all water is allocated, there should be a considerable quantity still running into the ocean, and from that extra supply the district should be able to obtain an additional 1500 second feet, matching the district's present allocation.

Below Sea Level
The speaker warned members of the league of dangers in the present water situation here, stating that at present 80 per cent of all water used in the county for irrigation and domestic purposes is being pumped from 200 to 600 feet below ground, while at least 50 per cent is being taken from below sea level.

"It is a matter of mathematical calculation how long there will be water left to pump," Colonel Finley said.

"We have almost exhausted our underground supply in 50 years," he continued, "and it is now a question of how long it will take to fill up the depleted basins. In my opinion, it will be 100 years."

Tax Rate Forecast
The probable highest tax rate to be charged for member districts would be 60 cents on $100 of assessed valuation, he explained, adding that payments will reach their peak in about 14 years.

Colonel Finley's talk followed a similar discussion by members of the associated chambers of commerce of Orange county and the Orange County Coast association last week at Laguna Beach, in which members of the board of directors of MWD explained their plan but were unable to set a probable price on water delivered here.

The speaker was introduced by Mayor Fred Rowland, Santa Ana, chairman of the municipalities group.

Troops Move on Burgos
Two thousand militiamen of the Madrid government comprised the surprise attackers moving on Burgos. They were reported near Briviesca, less than 25 miles away, and Gen. Emilio Mola, northern insurgent commander, moved his forces into position to withstand the onslaught.

The first step in setting up an army dictatorship if they are successful in capturing Madrid, the Fascists said, will be "cleansing" of all public offices and immediate trial of all loyalist government leaders.

Other steps in the program of General Mola and Commander-in-Chief Francisco Franco included: Other Steps

Suppression of the right to strike and "lockouts" by employers.

Creation of a political council to act as adviser to the military dictatorship.

Annulment of the Socialist government's extensive agrarian reforms (parceling of land among peasants).

Restitution of all confiscated property (churches, educational institutions, factories and estates seized by the Madrid government).

Suppression of loyalist labor organizations to be replaced by Fascist bodies.

S. A. SCREEN THIEF IS TRICKY

Police Scratch Heads Raw

Wanted: John Q. Screensnapper. Wild-eyed, snarled-haired police scratched some more hide off their heads today as John Q. suspended his burgling for one night. Officers think he's just resting.

John Q. is the wily burglar who has been making people awfully mad by snipping out screens, breaking windows, and burglarizing houses. He's entered eight Santa Ana homes in the past 10 days and escaped with almost $1000 worth of money and jewelry. Which should qualify him for a pension.

But the police are afraid he'll come back, although he didn't show up anywhere last night. They wonder how to catch him.

"He's a slick customer, all right," said Detective Lieut. Charles Wolford today as he emerged from a regular haymow of burglary reports.

Anybody got a better mouse-trap?

MORE WATER TO NORTH PARTON

Residents of North Parton street will have more water under pressure, when city water department workers complete installation of a new pipe-line, City Engineer J. L. McBride assured today.

In place of a two-inch line installed 40 years ago and partially choked with rust, the city crew is installing a 6-inch line of cast iron pipe. The line runs from Eighth street to Washington avenue.

While houses are being connected to the new line, both pipes will be filled with water, so that no home will be shut off more than the short time necessary to change meter connections, McBride said.

DRUNK DRIVING TRIAL SET

As the result of an automobile smashup Aug. 5 on Newport road, just south of Costa Mesa, R. L. Dalton will face a superior court jury Oct. 5 on charges of drunk driving. One person was hurt in the crash.

Dalton pleaded not guilty today before Superior Judge James L. Allen and asked for a jury trial. Presiding Judge G. K. Scovel will hear the case.

Dalton's machine collided with a car driven by Edward Cayer, injuring a passenger in Cayer's car, J. T. Nichols.

Woman's Report Amazes Officers

Next time, show your badge. Police Officers Harry Fink and Charles Wolford were pondering this advice today, as, with surprised faces, they read a report by a colored woman that she had been "accosted" by two men claiming to be police.

Mrs. Emma Holmes, 1312 West Second street, called the police station last night and said two men had stopped as she was waiting for a taxi on North Broadway, and had asked her where she was going.

It turned out the two strangers were Fink and Wolford, who just wanted to make sure everything was all right.

Death Comes to Aged Woman

After an illness of about five months, Mrs. Margaret Ellen Kutniewsky, 81, died this morning at her home, 902 South Birch street. She had been a resident of Santa Ana for 13 years.

She was the widow of the late Max Kutniewsky. Surviving members of the family are three daughters, Mrs. Lela M. Framhein, Mrs. Linnie Freidinger and Mrs. Zella Dove, Santa Ana.

The Rev. W. S. Buchanan, pastor of the First Christian church, will conduct funeral services at 2 p. m. Monday in the Winbiger mortuary chapel, 609 North Main street. Burial will take place at Fairhaven cemetery.

REBELS SAY MADRID SITUATION PRECARIOUS
RABAT, French Morocco. (AP)—Rebel radio broadcasts from Spain today declared the position of the government in Madrid was becoming precarious and that extremists were killing hundreds of persons in the capital.

Sugar and coffee supplies of the capital are exhausted, the station added.

GOVERNMENT FORCES SAVE CITY OR IRUN
WITH GOVERNMENT FORCES AT IRUN, Spain. (AP)—Spanish government defenders apparently beat off a violent attack by 1000 rebels on Mount San Marcial, last defense of the city, tonight.

From the government trenches, hundreds of rounds of machine gun bullets were poured down upon the attackers.

MANY EXECUTED BY GOVERNMENT
TOULOUSE, France. (AP)—The French press tonight quoted refugees from Spain as saying 100 rightists, some of them former leaders of the government, had been executed in Madrid in reprisal for an attempt by Fascist prisoners to burn the model jail in the Spanish capital.

The refugees said those executed included Gen. Oswaldo Fernandez Capaz, former military commander in Morocco; Admiral Francisco Salas (former minister of marine); Rico Avello, former minister of treasury and high commissioner in Morocco; Dr. Jose Maria Albina, leader of the national traditionalist party; the Marquis of Urquijo, a banker; and Fernando Primo de Rivera, cousin of the Fascist leader.

Faces Charges of Car Theft and Hit-run Driving

Charged with stealing two automobiles and a quantity of gasoline and with hit-run driving, Alfred S. Haines, 20, Anaheim, was booked at the county jail early this morning after officers of two counties had hunted him all night.

Haines was arrested by California highway patrol officers near Southgate while police there aided in the capture. He is alleged to have stolen a car from Los Angeles and one from Long Beach and to have been involved in a hit-run accident near Newport.

On the car he was driving when he was arrested were license plates stolen in Santa Ana from Robert L. Arundell, 324 East Myrtle street.

Highway patrol officers said he probably would be returned to Los Angeles for trial.

Mrs. Howenstein Dies at Newport

Mrs. Jeanetta Howenstein, 81-year-old widow of the late George W. Howenstein, died yesterday at Newport Beach. She lived in Santa Ana for 17 years and in Westmoreland for 20 years.

Surviving relatives are a daughter, Mrs. Roy Andre of Westmoreland, and two sons, Claude M. Howenstein, Westmoreland, and George W. Howenstein, Delhi.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow from the Smith and Tutill chapel. Burial will take place in Fairhaven cemetery.

Auto Accident Injures Two

Two persons were cut and bruised yesterday as the result of a collision on the 101 highway between Tustin and Irvine.

Drivers of the two cars were George W. Burke, 56, Pasadena, and Mary I. Kenyon, 30, route 4, Santa Ana. Mrs. Burke, 55, and Elizabeth Meeking, Los Angeles, passengers in the Burke car, were slightly injured. Richard Kenyon, 7, and Mrs. Henry Harkleroad, passengers in the Kenyon car, escaped injury.

Arraign Alleged Dope Smuggler
Kenneth Bausel, accused of attempting to smuggle morphine to a prisoner in Orange county jail, was to be arraigned at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon before Superior Judge James L. Allen.

Bausel, when brought into court this morning, indicated that he would prefer to conduct his own defense. Judge Allen appointed Chris P. Pann of Huntington Beach as defense attorney.

Truck Drivers Join Union

Fourteen truck drivers and helpers were initiated last night into the Santa Ana branch of San Pedro local union No. 692 at meeting at 402 West Fourth street.

President Shultz announced that agreements had been signed with the O'Leary contracting company and with the Fairchild dairy. Four Orange county employees of the latter company are to be initiated at Sept. 10 meeting of the local union branch.

Pleads Guilty to Drunk Driving

James V. Beck, Fullerton, pleaded guilty in superior court today to driving drunk Aug. 12 on Spadra road in Fullerton. He was involved in a collision with a car driven by William Phelps, injuring Phelps.

Beck's application for probation will be given a hearing on Sept. 4 before Superior Judge James L. Allen.

ARRAIGNMENT DEFERRED

Arraignment of Manuel Seberos, charged with burglarizing the home of Fred Lyons, 1435 West First street, on Aug. 16, was set over today until Sept. 4, when Seberos' attorney, Robert Crowley, asked for more time in which to investigate the case. He will be arraigned before Superior Judge James L. Allen.

OFFER SCOUTS LIFE AT SEA

A chance for seven or more Orange county Sea Scouts to take part in a scientific expedition with Capt. Fred E. Lewis of Balboa on his "Stranger" was offered today by Scout Executive Harrison E. White.

Carrying 30 Orange county boys, the "Stranger" will dock at Newport harbor toward the end of October, to leave soon thereafter on another expedition.

The present crew, recruited from Orange county and Long Beach Sea Scouts, has been on the sea since April. It has visited Hawaii, Tahiti and other Pacific islands, bringing back a cargo of reptiles and fish for American zoological gardens.

While today received a letter from Captain Lewis, mailed from his 230-foot steamer in Pago Pago, in which he asked that seven engine room and deck workers be found to take places of those who will leave the ship at the end of the present cruise. Five more, he said, wish to re-sign, but will have to get parents' permission. Fifteen of the group definitely will make the next cruise, White said.

Captain Lewis asked White to have his new crew ready by the time the "Stranger" arrives here. After several days of training for the recruits, the next voyage will begin, its destination as yet unannounced.

MAKE ARREST IN ATTACK CASE

While physicians feared wounds received Wednesday night at the hands of a mysterious attacker might become infected, David Drake, 422 1/2 West First street, was taken to the county hospital last night.

At the same time a Santa Ana man was arrested by police and jailed on charges of assault and battery. The prisoner is Raymond Hareison, 25, tractor driver of 508 South Van Ness avenue.

Drake was ordered to the hospital by his physician after he complained of sharp pains in his head, deeply cut when he was slugged Wednesday night as he walked along the street.

this afternoon before Superior Judge James L. Allen.

Bausel, when brought into court this morning, indicated that he would prefer to conduct his own defense. Judge Allen appointed Chris P. Pann of Huntington Beach as defense attorney.

TRAILERS ARE EDUCATIONAL PROBLEM

Shifting Population Is Added Worry to State School Head

Orange county will have its share of "trailer family" students this year, it was indicated today in a statement by Vierling Kersey, state superintendent of public instruction. Kersey said California's mobile population, the families which live in trailers and makeshift habitations wherever they happen to be, is proving a major educational problem.

Kersey estimated at least 50,000 boys and girls, who resided in five different states in the past five years, will be enrolled in California's schools when the fall term opens.

Need Federal Aid
Declaring the members of the mobile population are not residents of any particular state, but merely of the United States, Kersey declared the cost of education in California should be borne partially by the federal government.

"In the main," he stated, "these families bring no assessed valuation to the state and contribute no direct funds for the support of the educational program."

"If these people are, in fact, residents of the United States rather than of any particular state, they are to a certain extent educational charges of the United States government."

"Likewise, the federal government has usurped many tax sources. It is seemingly proper that in terms of tax levies made by the federal government upon local areas, federal funds should be made available for the educational needs of these loyal areas." Kersey, who recently returned from Washington, conferences with John W. Studebaker, United States commissioner of education, said the federal government is making available approximately $505,000 for the extension of vocational education programs in California.

Rebekahs Plan District Meet

Bridge and 500 were played Wednesday afternoon and again that evening by members of Torosa Rebekah lodge, who sponsored a benefit dinner party in the Odd Fellows hall, with Mrs. E. W. Cochens in charge.

Play during the evening followed stated lodge meeting in I. O. O. F. hall, when district meeting, to be held during September in Westminster, was announced.

Winners of score prizes in the afternoon included Mesdames Gladys McDonald, Crawford, McKee and Merriman. Assisting Mrs. Cochens in making arrangements were Mesdames Lloyd Spencer, Claud Brown, Count Rathbone and Laura Trammel.

Carnival on R. N. A. Slate

It will be carnival time for members of Golden State camp, R. N. A., when October rolls around. Plans for a gala affair were made last night at regular meeting of the organization in K. of C. hall.

Oct. 23 was the date set for the carnival. A picnic luncheon at Jack Fisher park for all members of the Golden State luncheon club was slated for Sept. 4.

Mrs. I. H. Pennington was named to head the committee in charge of the Sept. 9 meeting of the camp.

2 Reasons why I'm going EAST via S. P.
I'll See More—Southern Pacific hasn't just one route East, it has four—all different, scenic and interesting. I'll go East on one S. P. route and come back another, seeing new places, and twice as much. I'll visit Carlsbad Caverns on the way to Chicago, but I'm still undecided whether to return by New Orleans, San Francisco or Portland.

I'll be Comfortable—Every Southern Pacific train East is completely air-conditioned. The fast limiteds have everything you could wish for in the way of comfort and convenience, but I won't have to pay extra fare. The meals are marvelous, and most reasonably priced. What I like most of all is the cheerful, friendly attitude of the S. P. train employees, who are always thinking of little ways to make you more comfortable.

Townsendites Celebrate At Dinner

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Matthews, 121 Cypress street, was the scene of a merry dinner Wednesday night when 40 Townsend club members met for a pot-luck dinner and celebration of the nomination of Harry R. Sheppard, Townsend-endorsed congressional candidate, in the primary elections.

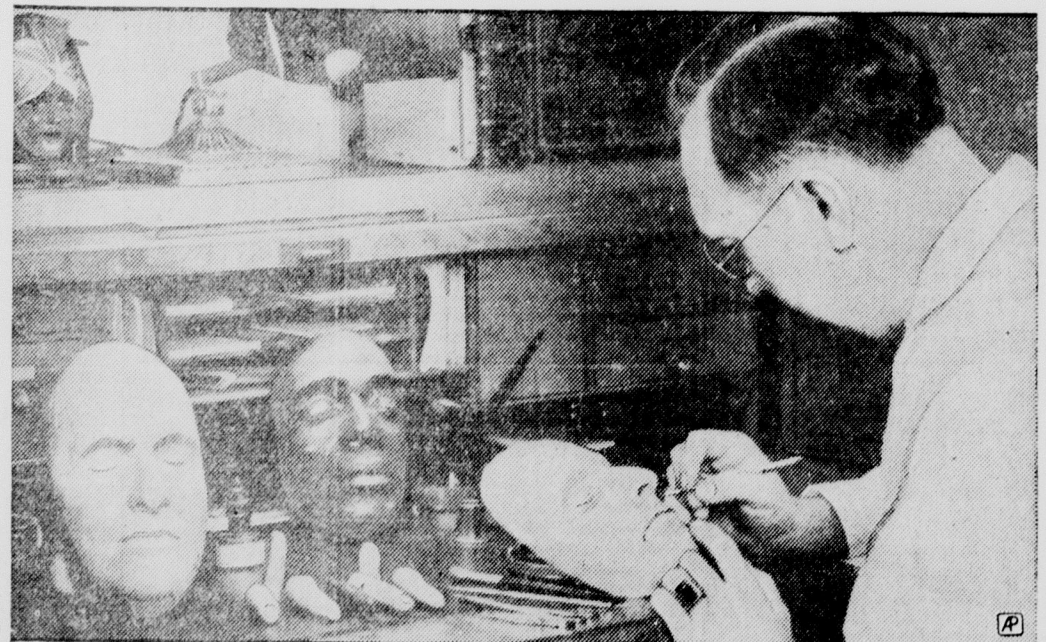

Colored lanterns and bouquets of flowers arranged by Mrs. Matthews throughout the home gave a festive appearance to the affair.

Those present included the host and hostess, Messrs. and Mesdames C. A. Schief, J. M. Short, A. L. Paul, D. E. Miller, Grant Henderson, J. S. Graves, T. T. Clem, Walter R. Masks of Criminals Help 'G-Men' in Scientific War Against Outlaws

Chief Howard G. Robinson of Ohio's bureau of criminal identification and investigation moulds in moulage the features and fingerprints of wanted men.

LONDON, O., (AP)—Aided by its "secret 21," by the largest state file of fingerprints in the United States and by masks of wanted men, Ohio's bureau of criminal identification and investigation carries on a continuous scientific battle against the underworld.

Its record of 2,000,000 criminals ranks second to the files of J. Edgar Hoover's "G-men" at the federal bureau of investigation. And although the Ohio bureau has only three "O-men," it has an invaluable source of information of lawbreakers in the "secret 21."

Organized two years ago as the Ohio crime control commission, the "secret 21" is made up of representatives of various law enforcing agencies. But identities of the individuals never are disclosed.

Bureau Chief Howard G. Robinson, who has been in crime detection work 16 years, moreover, has developed the use of moulage in the identification work of the bureau and is regarded as an expert in its use.

Moulage is used to mould life-like figures of body features of criminals—face masks, hands and the like—and to preserve imprints, such as footprints and tire marks. "Moulage," says Robinson, "offers another wall for the criminal to scale in his losing battle against law and order."

The Ohio bureau of criminal identification and investigation, established in 1923, has its offices at the state prison farm near here. Bureau Chief Robinson is assisted by E. J. Yantis and L. Hollingsworth.

Rigid Rules to Govern Church Members Adopted

LEAKESVILLE, N. C. (AP)—Members of the King Memorial Baptist church here, adopting a "new testament standard of church membership" prepared by the pastor, the Rev. Erskine X. Heatherly, have voted to expel any member who:

- Drink intoxicants.
- Uses profanity.
- Swims in mixed company.
- Gambles.
- Stays away from church for six months without a reasonably good excuse.

HITLER SENDS PEACE WORD TO FRANCE

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)

PARIS. (AP)—Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, German minister of economics, delivered what was described as assurance from chancellor Hitler that France had nothing to fear from the reich's increase of the length of military service.

"Politics is not my game," Dr. Schacht was quoted by sources close to the Franco-German conference now being held in Paris. "If I happened to make a declaration to my hearers Wednesday which had any political character, it was as a spokesman," he was reported as saying.

This declaration, informed circles said, was given to Premier Leon Blum and Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos during a luncheon at the Bank of France and was a personal message from Chancellor Hitler to the French government indicating the German prolongation of army service was undertaken only because of the recently announced increase in the Russian army.

Berlin dispatches Tuesday said Germany will have 1,182,000 men living in army barracks by Oct. 1 under decrees which extended the length of military service from one year to two years. The man power included the totals of the army, navy, air force, labor service for youths and Hitler's storm troops.)

Miss Cochran Will Not Race

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Damage to Jacqueline Cochran's monoplane, she announced, will keep her out of the Bendix trophy dash from New York to the National Air races here Sept. 4.

In a flight to test the plane's new motor, Pilot Wesley Smith was forced down with the landing gear retracted Wednesday. The resulting damage cannot be repaired in time for Miss Cochran, New York aviatrix, to complete tests and get back East for the start of the race, she said.

14 Army Planes Going to Races

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—Fourteen of the army's fastest fighting planes will stage tactical maneuvers during the National Air races at Los Angeles next month, it was announced at Barksdale field here.

Lieut. Col. Millard F. Harmon, acting commander of the third wing, said a flight of eight attack and six pursuit planes would arrive at Los Angeles on Sept. 2 for the event.

TO DISCUSS FINANCING
WASHINGTON. (AP)—Secretary Morgenthau announced he would meet with the open market committee of the federal reserve system next Wednesday to discuss the treasury's September financing. A maturity of $514,066,000 will fall due Sept. 15.

Tattoos Have Become as Rare as Snow in August

By EDDIE GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP).—So sophisticated is the modern sailor that the tattooed forearm is becoming as rare as a clipper ship.

Such is the woeful news today from the navy department.

"We have no figures," said Captain Randall Jacobs, director of the enlisted personnel division, "but I'll bet tattooing is at its lowest ebb in history."

Time was when the bright indelible ink of the tattooer's needle captured hearts from Reykjavik to Capetown and the sailor considered the daring designs as important as the duffle bag.

"I even remember some of my classmates at the naval academy being tattooed," said Captain Jacobs.

Reaction set in shortly after the world war. Naval authorities advanced a number of reasons for its waning attraction.

One is that sailors are more sophisticated. Another is that those who have to look at the tattooing are more sophisticated. Still another is that sailors got tired of running to the tattooer every time they found a new girl.

Although tattooing will not bar a man from enlisting in the navy, officers do not welcome an applicant with open arms if tattoo marks cover so much territory they can be seen above a uniform jacket.

"There was a time," said Captain Jacobs, "when you could find a tattooer with practically every ship. This practice has almost entirely disappeared."

Early American seamen learned the lure of the tattoo from South Sea Islanders and from the old pirates who, to intensify their frightening looks, had hideous faces painted on their bodies. By flexing their muscles they could make them leer or laugh.

Although the heart and the undraped woman have been the most popular motifs among sailors there have been seamen who splurged in designs and let color run riot.

Officers recall one enlisted man who had the battle of Manila tattooed on his back in three colors. One of his favorite tricks was to twist his back and make a cannon fire.

The sharp committee tests, which began last January, will be completed Wednesday before a group of government experts.

Experts said the problem of fire control at sea was primarily that of isolating a fire, and that several types of fireproof construction materials have been tested which prove that fire cannot spread through them from one stateroom to another.

For seven months the experts have been setting fire to the interiors of specially constructed cabins aboard the Nantasket, burning material representing beds, closets, cupboards, sheet, mattresses, rugs and passengers' clothing, then making careful calibrations of just what happened.

The work is being done by the United States senate subcommittee on fireproof construction, detection, and extinction, headed by George G. Sharp of New York, naval architect.

The committee came into being as the result of the burning of the S. S. Morro Castle in September, 1934, with the loss of 122 lives, a tragedy which resulted in the formation of Senator Royal S. Copeland's subcommittee on department of commerce and merchant marine.

POPE GROWS WEAKER, IS REPORT

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy. (AP) Pope Pius XI, 80 frail and exhausted he moves with difficulty, nevertheless arose soon after dawn today to renew his study of the Spanish situation.

But briefly he turned from the discouraging world to take comfort in philosophical contemplation of the heavens.

He received Father Giovanni Stein, director of the Vatican observatory, who presented to his holiness photographs of the heavens and a comet which Father Stein recently discovered.

He eschewed his daily automobile ride for the first time in a long while. Vatican sources said he found it too much exertion even though he had been napping in the car. Today he slept in the villa instead.

Persons who saw him today said he spoke in a very low voice.

The Pope's extreme weakness brought little halt in his study of the situation in Spain where Vatican reports tell of hundreds of churches burned, desecrated or sacked and of killing and persecution of priests and nuns. His anguish at the church's plight was said by prelates to have accentuated the frail health of the pontiff, who is 79.

BOURBONS TO RETAIN GRIP ON SENATE

Margin Will Be Larger Barring Any Break In Solid South

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Dissension and death have raised uncertainties in the senatorial situation in several important states, but the Democrats nevertheless are fortifying the majority which is certain to be theirs in the next session.

As it stood today, with the renomination of Pat Harrison in Mississippi and James F. Byrnes in South Carolina, 55 certain to sit in January are listed Democrats. A majority is 49.

Barring a break in the solid South, where most of the Democratic nominees are not even opposed, the margin will be larger. The Georgia primary, in which Gov. Eugene Talmadge will pit his anti-New Deal strength against Senator Richard B. Russell, Jr., comes Sept. 9. In addition, the border states of Tennessee, Kentucky and Oklahoma are among those now represented by Democrats which will elect again in November.

Many In South
A large number of the terms expiring this year involve southern states where the Democratic nomination long has been equivalent to election.

States beside Georgia which have yet to select nominees are Colorado, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Hampshire, New Mexico and Rhode Island. In New Mexico, two seats are open. Of the 36 to be filled in all, one is now the rest Democratic. Of the 96 seats, 70 were Democratic last session, 23 Republican, two farmer-Labor and one Progressive.

Olson Gap To Fill
The death of Gov. Floyd B. Olson, who was supporting Roosevelt while running for the senate on the Farmer-Labor ticket in Minnesota, left a gap which the leaders have yet to fill. Fundamental policies of the candidates account for party difficulties in other states, such as Nebraska and Michigan.

Some Democratic organization leaders in Nebraska are smarting yet from Representative Terry Carpenter's capture of the nomination. Senator Edward R. Burke resigned as national committeeman, rather than support candidates whose beliefs he does not share. Now it looks as though Senator George Norris may run independently after all, with the benediction of Roosevelt managers.

The Couzens Situation
While Talmadge berates the New Deal in asking Georgia Democrats to send him to Washington, Senator James Couzens is standing for Republican renomination in Michigan as an avowed administration supporter. Furthermore, one of his closest friends, Representative Prentiss Brown, is contesting for the Democratic nomination to oppose him.

The southern states in which such mix-ups have been settled for years at least by primary contests are Louisiana, Alabama, North Carolina, Texas, Mississippi, South Carolina, Arkansas, Virginia and Florida.

In Delaware the Republicans yesterday in state convention renominated Senator Daniel O. Hastings. The Democrats have yet to act.

The first essential is for Britain to abandon the method of the questionnaire to Berlin and substitute for it free and frank discussion around the table.—Lord Lothian, London.

The Story of Our Missions

Twenty-one Franciscan missions were founded in California by the Rev. Fray Junipero Serra, extending from San Diego to what is now Sonoma county. They are among California's priceless landmarks. The state department of public works has prepared brief histories of them with directions on how to reach them. They will be taken up in the order of their locations from south to north, rather than in the sequence of their founding. The seventeenth installment, telling the story of how Father Serra founded Mission Santa Cruz, follows:

MISSION SANTA CRUZ Founded Sept. 25, 1791

In 1774, Father Francisco Palou, faithful friend and biographer of Fr. Serra, accompanied a surveying expedition from Monterey toward San Francisco. Returning, the party crossed the San Lorenzo river, near the present city of Santa Cruz, on Dec. 11 of that year, and with prophetic vision Fr. Palou recorded in his diary:

"We reached the San Lorenzo river, which is quite large and has a deep bed; its water reached to the stirrups. . . . This site is suitable, not only for a pueblo, but even for a city, for it lacks nothing that is necessary, having good land, water, pasture, firewood and timber, all at hand in abundance, and close to the beach of Monterey bay."

Fr. Palou strongly recommended to Fr. Serra that the location was an ideal spot for a mission. Junipero was not to live to see the founding of Mission Santa Cruz. This Franciscan station was established under the regime of his successor, Fr. Fermín Francisco de Lasuen. Fr. Lasuen took a personal pride in the selection of the site and recorded: "On Aug. 28, 1791, the day of Saint Augustine, I said mass, and raised a cross on the spot where the establishment is to be. Many gentiles came, old and young of both sexes, and showed that they would gladly enlist under the Sacred Standard, thanks be to God."

Build Shelter
However, Fr. Lasuen was not to be present at the dedication of the new mission. He was called to Monterey on pressing duties and the ceremonies were directed by Ensign Hermengildo Sal, acting commandant at the Presidio de San Francisco, who arrived at Santa Cruz on Sept. 22, 1791, accompanied by Fathers Isidro Alzola Salazar and Baldomero Lopez of Mission Santa Clara, who were destined to be the first missionaries at the new station.

On Sept. 24, neophyte Indians brought from Santa Clara were set at work by the padres building a rude shelter in which high mass was to be celebrated the following day. The Indian chief, Sugert, came with one of his followers and asked to be made the first converts, and Ensign Sal agreed to act as godfather. Cows, oxen, steers, horses and mules contributed by the missions of Santa Clara, San Carlos and San Francisco had arrived the day before.

Church Erected
Fathers Salazar and Lopez formally founded the mission on Sunday, Sept. 25, and at the same time Ensign Sal took possession of the site in the name of his majesty, the king of Spain. The site was about 500 yards from the San Lorenzo river in the shadow of the mountains and towering redwoods.

Before long several buildings and a church had been erected. The first Santa Cruz mission was but a temporary structure and later was moved a short distance to higher land. In December, 1791, the resident padres reported that they had baptized 87 persons, celebrated six Indian marriages and buried an Indian child.

"We have enclosed a place for cattle, sheep and horses," wrote Fr. Lopez. "We have brought the water to the mission, and we have fenced the orchard. The tools used at this mission belong to other missions, and we shall return them when we receive those which the king is going to send. We brought with us four candle-sticks of brass, a painting of our Lady of Sorrows, and an image of our Father St. Francis."

Santa Cruz mission had one of the loveliest sites of all the Franciscan stations in California. The soil was fertile, the climate ideal, the Indians willing converts. And yet Santa Cruz never became a large or very prosperous mission. The padres attributed the failure of their dreams for a great mission to the fact that the Villa Branciforte, which was to become the present city of Santa Cruz, was established just across the river from them and was populated by settlers drawn from the lowest dregs of Mexican society.

The visitor to the Santa Cruz of today, one of the most attractive cities in the west and famed far and wide as a summer resort, will find it difficult to visualize the Villa Branciforte from which its unsavory existence remains. When Fr. Palou saw in this delightful spot an ideal place for a mission and "for a pueblo, even for a city," he could not foresee that the city he envisioned would turn out to be the Villa Branciforte, which brought so much grief to the mission fathers and shame to itself.

Visions Padre
Santa Cruz mission started out with great promises. The padres were inspired by the beauty of their surroundings.

"One can see them," writes H. A. van Coenen Torchiana, "standing on the hill, looking down upon the San Lorenzo river, lined with a great variety of deciduous trees, flowing through the small, lovely valley towards the west, or gazing towards the deep blue bay of Monterey, on the opposite side of which the San Carlos mission and presidio were situated, and admiring the glorious sunsets over the Pacific ocean."

"Then again they may have walked up the rock-strewn canyon of the upper San Lorenzo, its slopes covered with evergreens, and its audible waters boiling and tumbling in their steep descent over high boulders. We cannot but hope that they knew and loved the small grove of Sequoia Semperparvirens now owned as a public park by the county of Santa Cruz and situated only six miles up the gorge of the San Lorenzo from the mission site. No wonder Padres Salazar, Alonzo Salazar and Baldomero Lopez, detailed by the president as the first missionaries, considered themselves fortunate indeed. With all the joyous enthusiasm of religious zeal, they looked forward to their task at the lovely Mission of the Holy Cross, so favorably situated."

First Years Happy
Alas! "These high hopes were to be dashed and disillusionment was to come with the founding of Villa Branciforte."

However, the first few years were happy and busy ones. On Feb. 27, 1793, the padres laid the cornerstone of the new mission church on the new and higher site. More than a year was required to build the edifice. The adobe walls were five feet thick. The front was of masonry and the foundation walls up to three feet in height were of stone, the rest of adobe.

The church was dedicated on May 10, 1794. The ceremonies were impressive. Father Tomas Pena came down from Santa Clara for the event and Commandant Hermengildo Sal and several friars made the trip from San Francisco presidio. Indian neophytes and troops participated. The following day mass was celebrated in the new church.

Building activities increased. A flour mill and granary and a house for looms were erected. The last two sides of the square of the mission building were completed in 1795. Progress was rapid up to 1797. And then came the founding of Villa Branciforte on July 24, 1797.

Villa Founded
From this date on the histories of Mission Santa Cruz and the Villa Branciforte, named in honor of Miguel de la Cruz Talamasca Marques de Branciforte, viceroy of Mexico, are so closely interwoven as to make them one. The villa was established to gratify the conceit of the viceroy and over the protests of Fr. Presidente of the Missions Lasuen.

So great was the change in mission affairs that we find Fr. Manuel Fernandez writing as early as January, 1798, that "everything was in a bad way; that 189 neophytes had deserted, leaving only 30 to 40 to do all the work; that the land was overflooded and only half of the planting done; that the livestock were dying; that a dead whale on the beach was attracting an unusual number of wolves and bears, and that the establishment of the Villa de Branciforte added to the general despondency."

Five years earlier, Governor Don Diego de Borica had ordered secularization of the missions and the attempt to force self-government upon the Indians at Mission Santa Cruz brought much grief to the padres. The neophytes simply were not capable of ruling themselves or doing much for themselves.

No Advancement
Experiments with villas in Mexico had failed and conditions of the pueblos of San Jose and Los Angeles were anything but satisfactory.

In 1796, Fr. Salazar wrote to the viceroy:

"The two towns formed 20 years ago have made no advancement. The people are a set of idlers. For them the Indian is errand-boy, vaquero and digger of ditches—in short, general factotum. Confident that the gentiles are working, the settlers pass the day singing. The young men wander on horseback through the rancherias

PENSIONITES CLAIM HUGE VOTE LIST

CHICAGO, (AP)—Townsend national headquarters claimed a voting strength today of nearly 3,000,000 in eight states.

Gilmour Young, national secretary of the Townsend recovery plan of old age revolving pensions, said in a statement:

"Tuesday's primary results in California are indicative of the Townsend strength, and I have no doubt we will poll between 860,000 to 1,000,000 votes in the fall elections."

soliciting the women to immortality."

And Fr. Jose Senan at the same time went on record, saying:

"In Alta California the pueblos hardly deserve the name, so formless and embryonic is their state. The cause is scanty soil for work on the part of the settlers. One is more likely to find in their hands a deck of cards than a spade or plow. For them the gentle sows, ploughs, reaps and gathers the harvest. Debauched, moreover, by the bad example of his white associates, the gentle continues in the darkness of heathenism, when from distant rancherias he is drawn on to the fold of the Holy Church."

Colonists Arrive

Villa Branciforte was laid out on high, level land in what now is East Santa Cruz and a bridge was built across the San Lorenzo river to connect it with the mission. On May 12, 1797, nine colonists with their families, 17 persons in all, arrived. Torchiana says that the colonists, "scattered in Guadalupe from the vagabond and undesirable classes, arrived in a pitiful condition at Monterey on the little ship Concepcion, which had sailed from San Blas. Their health was poor and they were destitute in body and soul, while some of them were diseased before they started."

Governor de Borica repeatedly tried to get a higher class of colonists, but with no success. He finally found it necessary to issue an order that no colonists should leave Branciforte without permission and violation of this decree was punishable by confinement in the stocks.

There was constant friction between the mission padres and the settlers. The priests considered that the villa was trespassing upon the lands and rights of the Indians. Nevertheless, they continued their activities on behalf of their wards and by 1800 had increased their livestock to 2,354 head. They were increasing the number of baptisms and adding to the mission buildings. In 1810 a large house had been constructed for widows and girls, and except for constant trouble with rowdy settlers, affairs at the mission were fairly tranquil up to October, 1812, when Father Andres Quintana was found dead in bed. Murder was not suspected until later and then it required two years of investigation to determine that the friar had been strangled to death by a group of Indians and his body carried to his room and placed in bed. Nine or 19 Indians were convicted of the crime and punished. Some died in jail.

Monterey Raided
In 1818 Monterey was raided by Argentine privateers and looted. Fearful that the pirates would cross the bay to Santa Cruz mission, Father Olbes fled with his flock to Santa Clara. In his absence the mission was despoiled of everything that had not been buried by men working under direction of Comisionado Joaquin Buena. The pirates could have done no worse.

With the coming in 1825 of Governor Echeandia, Mission Santa Cruz, as were the other California missions, was doomed. For more than a decade before that the mission had been compelled to furnish food and clothing to the Mexican troops, unpaid since inception in Mexico of the revolt against Spain. Santa Cruz mission survived an attempt to suppress it in 1823 and the missionaries were forbidden to trade with vessels anchoring in Monterey Bay. In 1827 Santa Cruz was again raided by pirates, and the mission was united with Branciforte, which de Valle in 1835 had named Pueblo de Figueroa, and the two communities were known as Pueblo de Santa Cruz. Father del Real remained as parish priest until 1844. Historian Bancroft says there is no record that any priest served the mission between 1844 and 1853, but Ernest de Massey, traveler and author, wrote that he called upon the padre in the mission in 1850. In 1853 Fr. Rev. Jose del Real became archbishop of San Francisco and revived Santa Cruz as a mission station, sending there Fr. Sebastian Filoteo.

Santa Cruz mission was returned to the Catholic church as represented by Archbishop Alemany and to his successor in trust by President James Buchanan on Sept. 2, 1859.

In January, 1857, an earthquake crumbled the front wall of the mission building. Fr. Benito Capdevilla launched plans for rebuilding and on July 5 the cornerstone of the new church was laid and structure itself completed a year later. The old mission gradually disappeared and the church of today, with many recovered treasures of the past, occupies part of the original site.

How to Get There

Visitors to Mission Santa Cruz coming from the north have the choice of several routes out of San Francisco to San Jose or Los Gatos, notably the Skyline boulevard and El Camino Real, U. S. 101, thence over state route 5 to Santa Cruz. From San Jose the motorist will follow route 5 through charming Los Gatos and over the scenic mountain highway to Santa Cruz.

Visitors coming from the south will leave U. S. 101 at Salinas, go northwest through Castorville to Watsonville and thence 19 miles to Santa Cruz.

Mission visitors from the San Joaquin valley will turn west at either Chowchilla or Califa and follow route 32 west to Gilroy, thence westerly to Watsonville and then 19 miles north by west to Santa Cruz.

KVOE OFFERS MOVIELAND FEATURE

'Hollywood Lens' Will Go on Air Tonight at 7 o'Clock

Sterling Young and his studio orchestra, Galla-Rini and his orchestra, and the "Hollywood Reporter" will be featured in tonight's "Through the Hollywood Lens" on KVOE tonight at 7 o'clock.

The working girl who must get along on $20 a week will be given a tip from a budget plan set up by Bette Davis. How the prize mistake of the year was narrowly averted in the film colony will be told also by the reporter.

Collins Orchestra

Tunes will include "Without a Shadow of a Doubt," "Stompin' at the Savoy," "Circibiribin," "She Shall Have Music" and others.

At 7:30 the music of Tom Collins and his orchestra will be heard in a 15-minute program of popular tunes to include "It's You I'm Talking About," "We'll Rest at the End of the Trail," and "In a Little Wayside Inn."

At 7:45 will be another "Let's Dance" program, to be followed by Paul Kellar at 8 o'clock.

String Ensemble

At 8:15 the Salon String Ensemble will offer another presentation entitled "Sketches in Melody" with "Two Guitars," "Sizzlitta," "That Haunting Waltz" and "Berceuse."

Following a 15-minute organ recital at 8:30, this week's "Front Page Drama" at 8:45 under the title of "Reward" will tell the thrilling story of the capture of an escaped convict by a group of high school boys who accomplished what an armed posse failed to do.

COMING AIR RACES TOLD OVER KVOE

A vivid picture of the thrills furnished air race fans by daredevil speed streaking through the air at better than 250 miles an hour with engines roaring and the huge crowds grasping their seats with excitement was given over radio station KVOE at 8:30 o'clock last night by Ted Griswold, member of the second Byrd expedition and public relations representative of the National Air Races.

Griswold was introduced and questioned concerning the air race program by Dale Decker, local representative of the aeronautical association.

Labor Day Week-End

The National Air Races to be held at the Los Angeles Municipal Airport over the Labor Day week-end, Sept. 4 to 7, will surpass any event of its kind ever staged, Griswold said. It will be an international affair with leading foreign aces vying with American speed fliers for supremacy and a share of the $70,000 prize money offered.

Famous aces of England, Italy and France have signified their intention of competing in this year's events.

Griswold described the thrilling exhibition to be staged by army, navy and marine fliers. He said:

U. S. Fighting Craft

"As in previous air races, picked squadrons of units of Uncle Sam's fighting forces will provide fearless and intricate combat maneuvers, breathless and surpassingly beautiful formations, together with precision flying that has stirred the patriotic blood of everyone privileged to see them. For this year's show navy officials from San Diego are sending 18 Grumman fighters and 12 Marine Vought Vesper powered Corsairs to take part in the affair. Sensational comedy and hair-raising acrobatic flying, so popular with the race going public will be an important part of the daily program. Closing each day's race will be a sensational mass parachute jump participated in by 40 skilled parachute jumpers."

Tickets for the races are on sale by Decker at the West Coast Surgical Supply Company; at the Eddie Martin Airport, and by the Mitchell Ticket Agency through the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Navy Plans Mass Flight to Hawaii

SAN DIEGO, (AP)—Two mass flights of naval planes will be made from here to Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, in December and January, Rear Admiral Ernest J. King announced.

Six new planes will take off Dec. 1, and another six on Jan. 15, for the island of Oahu, where they will replace present equipment. Admiral King, who is commander of aircraft, base force, will leave for Hawaii Oct. 10.

25 TONS OF COOPS
POMONA, (AP)—Twenty-five tons of coops are being constructed for the poultry show to be held here during the first eight days of the Los Angeles County fair, opening Sept. 18.

Special piano arrangements of "A Little Robin Told Me So," "These Foolish Things," "In the Middle of a Kiss," "Sylvia" and "What's the Reason" are programmed.

Kellar scored a hit with his first program last Tuesday and his audience is promised an even more entertaining program tonight. Martin Brown will announce.

Change Aloha Hawaiians Hour

The Aloha Hawaiians will be heard at a different hour this evening when their program will be broadcast from KVOE at 6:15 instead of 5:15.

"King's Serenade," "Right or Wrong," "Hawaiian Paradise" and Lani McIntire's composition "The One Rose That's Left in My Heart" will comprise their program for this evening.

The change in time is for tonight only and subsequent programs by the Aloha Hawaiians will be scheduled at 5:15 p. m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Woman, 100 Today, to 'Vote Landon'

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Mrs. Julia Ely, mother of three United States army officers, was celebrating her 100th birthday today.

"I don't believe in slumping down and giving up interest in people and things merely because I can count 100 milestones behind me," said Mrs. Ely.

"I never expect to be too old to take an interest in my country's welfare, and I hope to prove it by casting my vote for Landon."

Mrs. Ely is the mother of Gen. H. E. Ely, Col. E. J. Ely and Col. N. D. Ely, U. S. A., retired.

JAYSEE WILL GREET NEW STUDENTS

Annual Freshman Days to Be Staged Sept. 8, 9 and 10 Here

Preparations were being made today at Santa Ana Junior college for Freshmen days, scheduled for Sept. 8, 9, 10, when all new students will be entertained at a series of programs arranged in their honor.

L. L. Beeman, faculty chairman of the annual freshman programs, has arranged a number of features for the three-day event, according to D. K. Hammond, director and dean of the college.

With the opening of the fall term but a few days away, students are urged to file their applications at the college office in order that entrance requirements might be checked before registration begins Sept. 10.

Under the direction of Editor Robert Swanson, a number of journalism students started work yesterday on the initial issue of El Don, college newspaper, which will be distributed on the campus during Freshmen days. Swanson is being assisted by Edward Velarde, Harvey Baker and Franklin Guthrie.

Many Apply
According to present indications a banner enrollment is expected at the junior college this year. Director Hammond stated, as several hundred applications for admission are already on file. College catalogues and additional information on courses offered for the first semester may be secured at the administration office, Tenth and Main streets, at any time, Hammond said.

BOY KILLED

Horse Wins New Name: 'Asbestos'

BANFF, Alberta. (AP)—Pat Brewster's horse now bears the well-earned name—"Asbestos." The horse, carrying fire-fighting equipment, was lost in dense smoke in a forest fire in Banff National park.
Next day the fire-fighters found him lying on a damp patch of muskeg. About him everything was black, the pack had been burned off his back, and his halter rope still smoldered.
"Asbestos" suffered no harm except the loss of six inches of his tail in the blaze.

THORNE
In the FLESH
By GLENN L. THORNE

President Nicholas Murray Butler, Columbia university, claims that, with the $400,000,000,000 the World war cost, we could build a $2500 home on five acres of land worth $100 an acre, furnished with $1000 worth of furniture, and give to each family in the United States, Canada, Australia, England, Ireland, Scotland, France, Belgium, Germany and Russia.

Enough money would be left over to give every city of 20,000 or over in all those countries a five-million-dollar library and a ten-million-dollar university. The balance, at 5 per cent, would provide forever a $1000 yearly salary for an army of 125,000 teachers and 125,000 nurses.

And don't forget the 30,000,000 lives, either.

Every person in the world of ordinary intelligence should be made to memorize the above, whether a hater of war, a sufferer from war, or a greedy beneficiary.

What did Sherman say about war?

Well, according to the above figures, Sherman was a piker!

Meet Your Neighbor

The Journal's compilation of Orange County People You Should Know.

Name: Aylesworth R. Bennett.

When and where were you born?

Ontario, Canada, 19th century.
What is your hobby?
Getting enough to eat without working for it.

What is the hardest task you ever encountered?
Keeping 2500 children in school every day.

What career offers the greatest opportunity to young men and women?
Aviation for boys, nursing for girls.

What bit of news has interested you most recently?
The advance of prices, indicating better times.

If you were editor of The Journal what one change would you make in the paper?
I would not make it appear so cheap by leaving it about town on Friday.

What do you like best in The Journal?
The correctly-given personal news, heedless of who is affected by it.

What one thing would help Santa Ana most?
For everyone to practice the Golden Rule.

What in your judgment is the most important problem facing the world today? Why?
Finding work for our wonderful young people. They need it and most of them want it.

Rotary to See Air History Film

BRUIN CLUB TO BE FORMED

Formation of an Orange county Bruin club loomed today following a committee meeting here last night at the Green Cat cafe at which plans were discussed for launching the organization.

Claude Blakemore, 1015 North Parton street, was elected chairman of the committee of U. C. L. A. alumni. David F. Folz, president of the U. C. L. A. alumni, and John E. Canaday, secretary, both of Los Angeles, were present to aid the committee in working out the plans.

Tentative arrangements were made for holding a banquet meeting on Oct. 8.

Other members of the committee are Mrs. Osborne H. Holmes, Santa Ana; Dorothy Yungbluth and J. H. Northrop, Anaheim; Don Daner, Orange; Gerald Boege and Dean Burney, Fullerton, and May Rose Borum, Tustin.

The committee will announce additional plans as they develop. U. C. L. A. alumni whose addresses are not filed correctly with the organization were requested to contact Chairman Blakemore or some other member of the committee.

Firemen Engage in Triple Play

ARKANSAS CITY, Ark. (AP)—Crossing a river on the way to a fire, firemen discovered flames coming up from the bridge floor, put out the blaze and went on to the original call. As the truck neared the station on the return trip Fire Chief Harry McCullough saw smoke rising from a grocery loading dock and promptly scored the third put-out.

7 Rabies Cases in San Bernardino

SAN BERNARDINO, (AP)—Seven new cases of rabies this month were reported by the city health officer. The police department announced orders to shoot stray dogs, in the quarantine against hydrophobia, will continue in effect. Owners have been warned to keep dogs tied up or behind fences.

British Train In Speed Record

LONDON. (AP)—A new record of 113 miles an hour for British trains was established today by the stream-lined Silver Jubilee Express of the London and North Eastern railway, running from Newcastle-on-Tyne to London. The mark was believed to be a world record for a steam-hauled passenger train.

Marian Anderson, American negro contralto, is one of the most successful concert artists in Europe.

WE ALL HAVE SHIFTY LOOK

And New Camera Proves It

CHICAGO. (AP)—A camera which takes movies of human eyes in action has unveiled a surprise discovery—everyone has a shifty look.

The eyes of every individual apparently take turns looking at things, Dr. Brant Clark of Los Angeles, ocular research student at the University of Southern California and inventor of the camera, explained.

The shifts are made so swiftly that other eyes cannot detect it, he said.

This was a direct contradiction of the generally accepted theory of why we can look at a thing with two eyes and see only one image.

The theory was that we are "right-eyed" or "left-eyed" just as we are "right-handed" or "left-handed."

The dominant eye, the theory held, fixed itself on an image first, and the other eye followed a split second later.

Contending there was "no neurological evidence" to support this theory, Dr. Clark tested it out with his "eye movement" camera.

Two magnifying lenses were placed in front of the eyes being photographed. Fourteen feet away was a six-inch screen in front of which a sensitized film moved continuously. Light reflected from mirrors was thrown into the eyes, and thence through the magnifying lenses to the film.

The resulting photograph was not a snapshot of the eyes, but a graph consisting of two beams of light. Every time the eyes moved, the path of the beam changed.

The graphs, Dr. Clark said, showed clearly that neither of the eyes of a number of individuals photographed was dominant. Instead, he said, each eye took its turn at looking at things, in no apparent order.

BLANDINGHEADS TALK CLUB

W. H. "Ted" Blanding, secretary of El Camino Toastmaster club, was elected president of the organization for the ensuing six months at a dinner held last evening. Other officers elected are Dr. Merrill W. Hollingsworth, vice president; T. B. "Ted" MacBird, secretary; William Gray, treasurer, and Malcolm Macurda, past president, sergeant-at-arms. The newly-elected leaders will be formally inducted into office next Thursday evening at the Green Cat cafe.

Dal Griggs, toastmaster of the evening, introduced speakers, who talked about the future of various activities and professions. He selected Macurda as critic and appointed MacBird, Gray and Glenn Tidball to criticize Macurda.

A. H. "Gus" Allen told of past developments in orange growing and forecast greater developments for the future. Fred Eley told of difficulties facing architects.

E. M. "Sunny" Sundquist told the history of the Democratic and Republican parties.

Ernest S. Wooster told of tax gathering from times of antiquity to the present. Dr. Hollingsworth discussed the possibility of state medicine and the effect that it would have on physicians. Fred McCandless gave a summary of the other talks and discovered a note of optimism and a faith in education in all of them.

Marian Anderson, American negro contralto, is one of the most successful concert artists in Europe.

Oilers, 7, Stars 1.
Tonight's prediction? No! That's how the little "world series" between Huntington Beach and Santa Ana was inaugurated last September. You bleachers boys who delight in seeing the home guard come through can flock to the Municipal bowl tonight with the satisfaction of knowing the Stars' 1936 playoff opener will be more successful than their '35 venture.

This corner won't be surprised if Santa Ana wins—4 to 1, if you care for an exact prediction. Coates and company are more likely to come through at the Municipal bowl than in Huntington Beach's own backyard Monday. We predict the Stars will win the first, lose the second, win the third, lose the fourth, win the fifth, lose the sixth and win the seventh. That's equivalent to the championship, if our arithmetic hasn't failed us.

I believe Santa Ana is weaker this year without Leavitt Daley," writes Joe Rodgers, field general of the poisonous Oilers. "To us he was the biggest threat. Francis Conrad's playing and his fire also will be missed. We are in swell shape. Louis Neva will be in there pitching and hitting for us. The team and I feel confident we can win the series in six games."

Now, Joe, Conrad is a valuable player and, as you say, has worlds of fire, but how do you figure he will be missed at shortstop with Ray (Doc) Smith on the job? Smith has fielded steadily, boasts a .331 average with the willow. He will cause you trouble.

Santa Ana is weaker, you say. Why? The Stars possess a plate average of .321 compared to a mark of .302 last year. And their fielding this season has been superior—much superior.

We know you have a smart ball club capable of winning a third consecutive Southern California title. But somehow we feel the Stars won't permit you. For the benefit of the historians, let's look back over the files for a thumbnail sketch of the 1935 series:

The Oilers won the first game by the aforementioned score of 7 to 1 before a howling mob of 2500. . . . Boh Smith, shortstop, first baseman cracked the double with the bases loaded for Huntington Beach's commanding lead. . . . The Stars held a slight edge in hits, 11 to 10. . . . Strikeouts were scarce—Neva getting only six, Coates four.

For Rodgers' triple with the bases intoxicated climaxed a four-run rally that led to a 9-5 victory for Huntington Beach in the second game. . . . The hits were even, 11 to 11. . . . Neva fanned 15 to Coates' 8. . . . Coates' support was nothing to write home about in this particular feud.

The third titanic went to Santa Ana, 5-2, as a reward for the Stars outitting the Oilers, 11 to 6. . . . Coates, Rodgers and Neva, combined for three home runs. . . . Coates shaded Neva in the strikeouts, 10 to 8.

Huntington Beach, on Rodgers' bounce-hit to shortstop, scored Bill McKinley with the deciding run, 3 to 2, in a hammer-and-dangle fourth game that lasted 13 innings. . . . Neva fanned 16, Coates 12.

Leading three games to one, the Oilers went out for the "kill," but were disappointed 4-1 when Santa Ana's Reboin doubled after singles by Denney and Conrad for a three-run spurge. . . . Neva and Coates struck out eight.

With whirlwind rallies in the sixth and eighth, the Stars deadlocked the series by overpowering the Oilers, 5-2, in the sixth game.

A feverish struggle loomed for the seventh and deciding game, but—

Fifty-five hundred fans sat through a heavy fog only to pay tribute to the Oilers, who turned the game into an 8-1 nightmare while smothering the home guard with bewildering power, 14 hits to 5. . . . Paul Neva and McKinley blasted home runs. . . . Despite his sound thrashing, Coates managed to strike out 14 to Neva's 10.

OILERS HERE TO OPEN TITLE DEFENSE! Giants, Cubs Enter Final Month's Drive Coates, Neva Set For Duel Tonight

NEW GROUND GAINED BY CHICAGO

Crippled Cards Fading From Title Picture; Yankees Are 'In'

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer
The big league baseball campaign heads into its last month today, and it's still a case of "pay your money and take your choice" on the chances of a subway series in New York or a Yankees-Cubs classic for the big prize.

While the Yankees have just about nailed the American league pennant to their flagpole, the galloping Giants and the Chicago champions are digging in for a finish fight for the National league hunting.

Although Bill Terry's crew is three games in the lead at the moment and a short-cut shot to come through as a climax to the great winning rush of the season, it's still anybody's ball game, particularly because the Giants have been getting the breaks, and those things can't last forever, and (2) the Cub pitching is back in form and they're battling on their home lot.

Chicago in Tie

That the hurrying of the Cub elopers is tops again has been demonstrated since their return home. They've won five straight, winding up with a 1-0 decision over the Phillies yesterday as Wee Roy Henshaw, recalled from bullpen exile, pitched a six-hitter, his first victory since July 2. He was the fifth hurler in a row to go the route for the Cubs.

The win boosted the Chicago crew into a tie for second place with the crippled Cardinals who bowed to the Bees for the fourth straight time, 1-0. Roy Parmelee pitched no-hit ball for seven innings, and allowed but three hits altogether, only to lose when Joe Coscarart's triple broke up the duel between himself and Danny MacFayden in the 10th inning.

Even the weather man seemed to have signed up on the Giants' side, raining out the last game of the Cincinnati series to give them a day off when the whole outfit showed signs of weakening under the boiling western heat.

Giants Have Edge

The postponement forced the playoff into the Giants' home grounds later, where the New Yorkers will have a decided advantage.

The Yanks maintained their 12½ game edge in the American league by knocking off the Browns, 7-1, behind Johnny Broasca's three-hit pitching, while the second-place Cleveland Indians had to go 10 innings to overcome the Senators, 10-9.

Connie Mack, an expert on pulling them out of the hat, uncovered a "boy wonder" possibility in 18-year-old Randall Gumpert, recent high school graduate from Pennsylvania, who moved down the White Sox with two hits to give the Athletics a 5-2 win in his first big-league start.

Tommy Bridges chalked up his 18th hurling victory, pitching a four-hit, 4-2 win for the Tigers over the Red Sox.

Van Mungo ran into his customary hard luck as the Dodgers fell apart again, committed four errors, and lost to the Pirates, 6-3.

Santa Monica Net Tourney Begins

SANTA MONICA, (AP)—Two Los Angeles entrants, Dr. Gerald Bartosh and Jess Millman, shared the limelight as play in men's singles opened today in the Santa Monica tennis championships.

Bernie Coghlan, Santa Monica youth, lead the way into the quarter final round of the junior singles by downing Al Cameron, Los Angeles, 8-2, 6-4, and P. Wilson, Los Angeles, 6-0, 6-0.

Ron Lubin, Los Angeles, top-seeded, won his first match from Dick Dearden, Beverly Hills, 6-4, 6-2.

YOUNG BEATS DISTANCE

PROMOTER IN 'HOT WATER'

Fight Club Runs Out on Singleton; Local Boys Come Through

By BOB GUILD

Promoter Bob Singleton found out last night what Promoter Sam Sampson long has known—that all is not beer and skittles in the life of an amateur fight impresario.

If an amateur doesn't want to fight, he doesn't have to fight, and the promoter can't help it. And if a whole club wants to run out on a fight night, the whole club can, and that's that. And therein lies the grief of promoting amateur fights.

Vargas Whips Negro

The Smart Set fight club of Los Angeles took a runoff powder on Promoter Singleton last night, and failed to appear for a scheduled eight-bout competition with the Orange County Athletic club. Promoter Singleton at least put in a busy evening, even if everyone else was sort of sitting around. And mark it up to Singleton's favor that he got a good card going in spite of everything.

Kayo Ray Vargas of Placentia added another victory to his long string when he decisively whipped Clarence Montgomery, Los Angeles negro, in the main event, after a sizzling battle. Montgomery was down for no count in the second, and hung on for dear life from then on—in Vargas couldn't get the sleep punch over.

Benzor Floors Wilks

Anaheim's whipsaw, Don Benzor, had himself and the fans in a frenzy by knocking out John Wilks in two rounds—coming up from a decidedly prone position to do it. Benzor hit the deck in the first for no count—bounced up, and went bouncing down again, this time for a short count. In the second he launched a terrific attack, and Wilks did the dropping, for keeps.

Laughs for the evening came from Jesse Brazil of Westminster and dusky Cliff Du Valle of Los Angeles, who jiggled, stalled and danced until the third canto, when Brazil walked into a right hand that nearly tore his shoulder off, and put him on his feet last night, 8 to 5, will play Duncan, Okla., in tonight's only game. Duncan eliminated Hollywood last night, 7 to 3. Buford will meet Wichita tomorrow night.

ANAHEIM NINE WARFARE DUE TRIPS JOE'S CHAMPIONS IN OLYMPIC FAMILY

City League Kings Bow 9-5—Rivals Score 12 Runs in 7th Frame Squad Lands in New York Tonight; Heads Under Fire of Criticism

Twelve runs were concentrated in two sensational seventh-inning rallies during a 9-5 softball exhibition won by the Anaheim Elks from Joe's Grocers, Santa Ana City League champions, at the Municipal bowl last night.

The two nines, girding for the Southern California tournament in Los Angeles Tuesday night, went on a rampage at the same time after being held scoreless for six innings by the rival pitchers, Armand (Lefty) Hanson and Lloyd Lichtenwalter.

Score Seven Times
The Anaheim Elks, with four players from the Santa Ana B. P. O. E.'s and the three Jones brothers from Placentia in their lineup, turned on the heat for seven runs in the climaxing period, and Larry Owens' Grocers came back in the last half to score all five of their runs.

Del Jones' home run, Bob Schwarm's triple, Bill Jones' double and Bob Wimbush's single, combined with two walks and two errors, poured in the runs for Anaheim. Joe's big rally was fired with singles off the bats of Nathan Levens, Bob Mott, Joe Standifer and Hurler Hansen.

Play Again Monday

Mott relieved Hansen after the seventh for the home guard, and allowed a pair of runs in the ninth on Elmer Clausen's circuit smash following Catcher Herb Grimm's single.

A return game will be played here Monday night.

Some have questioned the eligibility of the Anaheim entry because it is comprised of all-stars who did not play together as a team during the regular season. A ruling has not been received from the Southern California tournament committee.

CHIEF BATTLES LEE TONIGHT

HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—Chief Green Feather Paris, Cherokee Indian, welterweight from Bartlesville, Okla., goes on the ramp tonight in a 10-round California debut against Glen Lee, Edison, Neb.

While betting odds favored the paleface, the red-skinned chief said he would add another scalp to his collection, which includes Kid Azteca, Tracy Cox and Tony Herrera. Gunning on his own account, Lee was promised a bonus of $50 for every knockdown and $100 for a knockout, by his manager.

Hollywood Loses In Wichita Ball

WICHITA, Kan., (AP)—The final stage of the national semi-pro baseball tournament today found the four contenders on equal footing, each with five victories and one defeat.

The defending champions from Bismarck, N. D., who gave Buford, Ga., its first defeat last night, 8 to 5, will play Duncan, Okla., in tonight's only game. Duncan eliminated Hollywood last night, 7 to 3. Buford will meet Wichita tomorrow night.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

NEW YORK, (AP)—There isn't a harder loser in baseball than Col. Jake Ruppert, owner of the Yankees.

The other day young Horace Stoneham of the Giants went to the stadium to discuss World Series arrangements. . . . He found Colonel Ruppert worrying his head off about a 13-to-1 lead the Yanks had piled up. . . . The tunnel leaned over to Horace and said: "You know, I'd feel a lot more comfortable if the boys would go out and get two or three more runs."

Tony Canzoneri may get a crack at Barney Ross this fall. . . . Mike Jacobs, who has been working on the match for months, hasn't given up the idea. . . . The one man Jesse Owens listens to (and no questions asked) is Bill Robinson, the negro tap dancer.

In the six years Joe McCarthy has managed the Yanks they've never finished lower than second place. . . . Beau Bell of the Browns, one of the season's prime youngsters, had two strikes on him so far as recognition is concerned by being with a loser.

If you feel that Lou Ambers has a chance to lift Tony Canzoneri's lightweight crown next Thursday night, you can get all sorts of fancy prices in any of the Broadway spots. . . .

Watch the Chicago Cardinals in the National professional football league next fall. . . . They'll be the youngest team in the loop, and mebbe the best.

Who was the National league manager who socked Pepper Martin for blowing sneeze powder in the visiting club's dressing room at St. Louis? . . .

Bill Terry, who swears he'll not play a game in 1937, is expected to open negotiations soon for Ripper Collins of the Cards. . . . With Johnny Mize going so good, the Cards are willing to let Collins go.

WEHERELL IN LOS ANGELES

Lewis Weherell, Santa Ana's men's singles champion of the National Public Parks tennis tournament in St. Louis, arrived yesterday in Los Angeles, where he was greeted by fans.

Lewis will return to Santa Ana tomorrow for a day's rest before teaming with Bill Doeg in men's doubles at the Santa Monica Invitational Sunday.

Home Runs Enable Portland To Capture Two-Game Lead

By the Associated Press

Home runs lifted Portland two games up in front in the Pacific Coast league's hot pennant race and boosted San Diego into a second place with Seattle.

Manager Bill Sweeney's eleventh inning homer gave the Portland Beavers a 5-3 win over San Francisco.

Chick Shivers' circuit drive with newly-married George Myatt on base in the seventh was responsible for Santa Ana's 3-2 victory over Oakland.

A pair of ninth-inning home runs started Los Angeles off to a five-run rally which set Seattle down 8-4. Steve Messner and John Bottarini swung the powerful bats.

Huntington Beach's poisonous Oilers, on the prowl for a third consecutive Southern California title, and Santa Ana's scintillating Stars, truly a great nightball collection, go into their little "world series" at 8:15 tonight. Inside the Municipal bowl, where Joe Rodgers' defending champions brushed aside the Stars, 7-1, for the National league crown last September, the first and second-half champions of the 1936 season launched a four-out-of-seven game playoff for the right to meet either San Bernardino or Covina for the southland title.

Louie Neva Faces Arrest After Tonight's Game

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Louie Novikoff!

Cited for a traffic violation here in June, Novikoff failed to appear in Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison's court, and his whereabouts, re-mained somewhat of a mystery until a clerk discovered Novikoff is none other than Neva, Huntington Beach's great nightball pitcher.

Neva, it is definitely understood, will be allowed to pitch tonight's game with the Stars before being "picked up" by officers.

YOUNG'S .406 HIGH MARK

Rival Infielders Boast Best Hitting Records for Stars, Oilers

Tommy Young, Santa Ana's smooth third-baseman, will carry a batting mark of .406 into the Star-Oiler playoff. That will be high for both rivals.

Complete averages will not be released until a checkup with Anaheim and Westminster scores on the record of Rightfielder Dave Webb, but the averages for Santa Ana and Huntington Beach are official.

Bill McKinley is second to Young with a .391 rating.

Six Stars are above the .500 clip. . . .

Tonight's umpires will be John Ireland behind the plate, Al Kohler at first, Fred Germain at third, S. S. (Shorty) Smith of Brea is expected home from Canada in time to officiate at the second game at Huntington Beach Monday night.

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor
By I. N. (BRICK) GAINES

AND CAN those women cook? What I mean is, members of the American Legion auxiliary at Newport harbor, who prepared the meal for the county league of municipalities last night!

They had duck, mostly. Duck born and raised in Costa Mesa or thereabouts. That was enough to make the meeting a success. But then Mayor Harry Williamson and Fire Chief Frank Crocker met visiting mayors and other folks at the door with a clap on the back and a word of cheer, which made the day complete. It was a fine meeting.

First, there was the horseshoe-pitching contest to laugh about. Fred Schwendeman, from Tustin, and his manager, won first place. Fred received a "gold" statue for his efforts. Then my friend Elmer Hughes, mayor of Seal Beach, showed up for a belated second place. Elmer received a sort of bronze creation.

E. M. Chapman from Orange and Tom Talbert from Huntington Beach received silver statues for their efforts as runners-up in the contest, unless I'm color-blind. And everybody laughed at everybody else. It was lots of fun. Tom and Elmer both lost out because they failed to chew the right sort of tobacco. Horseshoe Plug, while Schwendeman won through native ability. He just couldn't miss!

A. J. Tobias, fire chief at Garden Grove, made one of the hits of the evening with his talk on need of fire extinguishers in all passenger cars. It was a sort of "And Sudden Death" affair, but made a distinct effect on minds of lots of councilmen and engineers and fire chiefs there. Very good, and burrhead for Chief Tobias. He's humanitarian!

And then there was Dr. Boice, mayor of Orange. He's stopped worrying, so he says, over the municipal plunge in his town. The lath for dressing rooms has finally made an appearance, and the much-needed structures will be built in no time at all. He's going to lath last, after all!

But he still wouldn't confess about his own ability as a swimmer!

And Police Chief George Franzen, also from Orange, just nodded at the county editorial department from the doorway. Guess he was just as tied up in M.V.D. water as was at the time. I hope so, because sometimes I go through his town in a bit of a hurry, and it pays to know a policeman!

Billy Hale, mustachioed former mayor of Fullerton, wanted to know why all government men are large-waisted. He made the crack with a look at Dan Mulholland, but I don't think he meant anything by it.

Billy also confessed something. He admitted, publicly, that he'd been driving a car since 1903. Which is a long time, and places the popular Fullerton rancher's years farther along than I'd thought.

Also seen at the meeting: Fred Hezmalchal, Fullerton's city clerk... Charlie Young, mayor of Placentia... H. H. Kohlenberger, new Fullerton councilman, worrying how to take snail out of snail water... Ray Overacker, Huntington Beach city attorney and Willis Warner, mayor of the oil town, talking together... Howard Jerome, Placentia councilman, enjoying his dinner... And, for once, Dan Mulholland without a cigar... But not for long... Frank Rinehart, Newport city clerk, talking to lotsa folks... Cal Lester, Orange councilman... He left the meeting early... May or Fred Rowland, Santa Ana, doing a fine job of running the meeting... Dr. C. G. Huston, receiving what amounted to an ovation from the league members... Al Launer, secretary and also Fullerton city attorney... "Hap" Hapgood, Anaheim's engineer, talking to the press... and lots more.

Just as a hunch prediction. Watch Tom Talbert's farm insurance plan next year. It's gaining what amounts to national recognition. You just wait! And you don't need to take Tom's word for it, either!

Tommy Bouche, Newport's harbor master, is losing his grip. At one time, maybe when he was younger, he could guess the weight of fish, but not any more. I know, because I saw him in action yesterday.

Sam Kraemer, jr., from Placentia, came in with a nice Marlin, and brought his catch up to the weighing platform. Tommy said the critter'd weigh 138 pounds. It weighed 144.

So he felt pretty fine. And then another of Capt. McNally's boats came in with two fish. Tommy said one'd weigh 135 and the other 110, or something like that. Anyway, he was wrong both times.

But I don't blame him, much. They were exciting fish!

HUGE BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION SLATED AT NEWPORT-BALBOA

CITY'S 30TH YEAR WILL BE NOTED

Past Mayors to Be Feted At Party Tuesday in Harbor Area

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Newport-Balboa will have a gigantic birthday party Sept. 1.

The date will mark the official 30th anniversary of the harbor city, and the chamber of commerce will sponsor a community dinner in honor of former mayors of the city.

Eight of the 13 who have held the office are still living. President Sam Meyer of the harbor chamber announced today, and will be invited as special guests at the anniversary affair.

A. N. Smith, senior past-mayor who held office in 1910, still lives in Newport. H. A. Robinson, now a resident of La Habra, served in 1917. Others who have served, and all of whom now live in the Newport-Balboa district are J. P. Greeley, J. J. Schmitzer, George P. Wilson, Dr. Conrad Richter, Mark J. Johnson and Dr. Hermann H. Hilmer.

The committee appointed to make arrangements for the dinner, to be held at the Peninsula cafe, includes:

Lew H. Wallace, A. B. Roussele, Harry H. Williamson (present mayor); Lloyd B. Claire, and A. J. Garfield.

The official list of the mayors who have served since the incorporation of Newport Beach in 1906 follows:

John King, 1906-1908; C. A. Barton, 1908-1910; A. N. Smith, 1910-1912; Albert Hermes, 1912-1914; W. K. Parkinson, 1914-1916; S. R. Junper, 1916-1917; H. A. Robinson, 1917-1918; J. P. Greeley, 1918-1922; J. J. Schmitzer, 1922-1924; George P. Wilson, 1924-1926; Dr. Conrad Richter, 1926-1928; Mark J. Johnson, 1928-1932; Dr. Hermann Hilmer, 1932-1936; Harry H. Williamson, 1936.

CLEMENTE CLUB OPENS YEAR

SAN CLEMENTE.—Going into their sixth year, the San Clemente Woman's club will open its fall social and business season with a luncheon next Tuesday.

The luncheon committee will be composed of Mrs. Guy Bartlett, president of the club; Mrs. Joe Kramer, secretary; Mrs. Effie Johnson, treasurer and Mrs. F. W. Parson.

Mrs. J. B. Stephenson was elected president at the regular spring election of officers and Mrs. Bartlett vice president, but since Mrs. Stephenson has moved to San Diego, Mrs. Bartlett has been elevated to the office.

Deer Hunting Case Dismissed

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO.—Charged with hunting without a license and with not attaching a deer tag to the horns of a slain buck within the proper time, Lewis Robinson, El Toro rancher, was arrested by State Game Warden H. C. Jackson and brought before Judge John Landell in justice court here.

Judge Landell dismissed the case for lack of evidence.

Candidates Not Only Ones Who Fell in Election

GARDEN GROVE.—Running for office and failing is one way of failing while being mixed up in elections, but J. A. McClain of Garden Grove suffered another kind of fall while assisting in collecting election booths Wednesday.

In some manner not exactly known (which might apply to candidates) he slipped and fell or was thrown from a truck gathering the booths in the west end of the county. The driver of the truck did not see the accident and later noting Mr. McClain's absence returned to find him in the road.

He was taken to the Artesia hospital for emergency treatment and later removed to St. Joseph's hospital, where X-rays showed a fractured arm and badly cut face.

He Gets His Air Race Tickets

J. F. T. O'Connor, comptroller of the currency, is shown above obtaining tickets for a half dozen boxes for the National Air Races from Toni LaNier (center) and Joanne Dudley, petite girl flyers. The tickets were taken by the comptroller to Washington to be presented to high government officials who are expected to attend the races. The races will be held at Municipal Airport in Los Angeles Sept. 4, 5, 6 and 7 and are expected to attract an attendance of more than 60,000 each of the four days. Advance ticket sales at Southern California Auto club branches and hotels throughout the Southland have been more than triple those of any previous race, Cliff Henderson, managing director, announced. Scores of internationally known flyers from all sections of the United States and abroad will participate.

SMITH IS 20-30 WHITE TALKS TO CLUB SPEAKER G. G. LIONS

ORANGE.—At a meeting of the 20-30 club Wednesday night at the Sunshine Brouler, Supervisor Willard Smith told of water for Orange county, other than that to be supplied by the Metropolitan Water district. He stressed the need of a dam on the Santa Ana river, as a means of stopping the waste of water.

The meeting was in charge of Don Gulledge, and the speaker was introduced by Thomas V. Towne, program chairman.

Orange Sewing Club Meets

ORANGE.—A recent meeting of the Chat and Sew club, with Miss Edna Case as hostess, was featured by a layette shower in honor of Mrs. Homer Bailey, sister of Miss Case, with whom she makes her home.

Club members present were Mesdames Earl Wood, Ensis Campbell, Edwin Westcott, Carl Pister, J. T. McInnis, E. C. Prevett, Oliver Wickensham, Earl Smith, Vern O. Estes and Miss Maude Sisson, Orange, and Mrs. Ted Nail, Santa Ana; guests were Mesdames William MacDon, Joe Peterson, M. Isbell, Mark Hart, Joseph Eckrode, Orange, and Mrs. E. B. Cox, Fullerton.

Mission Group Has Meeting

EL MODENA.—The Woman's Missionary society of the Friends church met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mary Moody. The hostess gave the last chapter of the study book, "Women Under the Southern Cross," and a duet was sung by Mrs. Mary Marshall and Miss Mabel Alsop. Mrs. J. F. Sorenson, president of the group, returned Wednesday night from an Easter trip, and was welcomed by the society.

Others present were Mrs. Daisy Turner, Miss Emma Granger, Mrs. Doris Gray, Mrs. Cordelia Winters, Mrs. Pearl Stearns, Mrs. Frances Bartley, Miss Pauline Stearns and Mrs. Luther Barnett.

Brush Family Has Barbecue

OCEANVIEW.—Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Brush and Edith and Phyllis Brush were hosts Wednesday night at a steak bake in the garden of their home on Huntington Beach boulevard. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Walker, Santa Ana, and Violet Walker, Santa Ana.

COSTA MESA.—Mrs. McShivers and daughter, Miss Marion Vinson, a niece of Mrs. Emery Hunter, who have been visiting for some time at the Hunter home on Magnolia street, left this week to visit friends in San Diego before they return to their home in Phoenix, Ariz.

WEEK-END AT MESA

COSTA MESA.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hummel, jr., of Bakersfield; Dr. and Mrs. L. M. Beaton, Arkansas City, Kan., and their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Lachlan Beaton, Los Angeles, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hummel, 153 Balboa street.

VISITS IN WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG.—Mrs. Robert Hoisington, Bakersfield, who has been spending some time at Catalina Island, is now a guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McIntosh, and expects to remain until Sept. 1, when she will be joined by Mr. Hoisington.

COUNCIL TO TAKE BOND ACTION

LAGUNA BEACH.—Matters relative to clearing up bonded indebtedness of the Broadway Improvement district, including cancellation of county and city back taxes, are scheduled to come up before the city council at a special meeting set for tomorrow at 11:45 a. m. at the council chamber.

As a matter of form, the council Wednesday night adopted a resolution calling for a total tax assessment of $27,701 to take care of retirement of bonds and payment of interest, now or past due. In the meantime, however, negotiations are under way for liquidating the entire bonded debt on terms of a compromise agreement with the bondholders, it was explained.

Referred to Councilman Thomas Cummings at Wednesday's meeting was a request of Mrs. Emma Cranford, unit supervisor, Laguna Beach WPA sewing unit, for use of city property in housing the unit's activities. During the summer, it was explained, the unit has been using school property, which, with the opening of school Sept. 14 will no longer be available.

DEATH CLAIMS H. B. PIONEER

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Death claimed one of Orange county's oldest pioneers Wednesday, when Mrs. Mary V. Bushard, 78, resident of the Huntington Beach district for more than 60 years, died in Los Angeles. She had been ill for some time. She was a charter member of the Huntington Beach Women's Relief corps and was the first president of the Huntington Beach Pioneer society, an organization boasting many people identified with early progress of Orange county.

Mrs. Bushard came to Huntington Beach 60 years ago and settled with her family on a ranch home-stead two miles east of the town of what is now Huntington Beach. She was active in women's affairs and in both political and social life of the district and of Orange county for many years.

Surviving are four children, George H. Bushard, William J. Bushard, Louis J. Bushard and Mrs. Marie Palmer.

Funeral services were to be held at 9 a. m. today from the St. Agnes Catholic church in Los Angeles, with Rev. Father Louis Mulvihill, nephew of the dead woman, officiating. The church is located at West Adams and Vernon streets in Los Angeles. Burial will follow at Fairhaven cemetery in Santa Ana.

G. G. LEGION TO HAVE DINNER

GARDEN GROVE.—Plans for a pot-luck dinner on Sept. 23 were made by members of the Garden Grove American Legion post at a meeting Wednesday evening at the Legion hall. The dinner will be a community event, with all friends as well as the members and their families to be invited. It is planned to have a speaker, as well as orchestra music and entertainment. E. L. Marr is in charge of arrangements.

Included in the business meeting this week was election of the commander, C. P. Bryan, the adjutant, D. B. Baldwin, and a past commander, E. A. Liebermann as the posts delegates to the county council for the coming year.

Bridge Party Held at Midway

MIDWAY CITY.—Mrs. Fred Foley was hostess at a 1 o'clock luncheon today with contract bridge planned for the afternoon's diversion.

Guests include Mrs. N. A. Nelson, Mrs. Robert Hazard, Mrs. P. H. Marshall, Mrs. Chester Campbell, Mrs. Ray Sues, Mrs. Bert Heath and Mrs. S. A. Miller.

VISIT IN BEVERLY

WESTMINSTER.—Mr. and Mrs. William Vail are house guests of Mrs. Vail's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donlin Murdy, at their home in Beverly Hills.

Film Contract Awarded to Girl at Laguna

LAGUNA BEACH.—Barbara Reed, young stage and screen actress, left the art colony yesterday for Hollywood, where she is to appear in one of the principal roles in a new Universal production, "Three Smart Girls."

A contract with Fred Datig, former contract director at Paramount and now a leading Hollywood agent, followed by screen tests at Universal, led to Miss Reed winning the part.

About two years ago she was under contract with Columbia Pictures and since that time has been actively identified with the Laguna Beach Community players.

M.C. ENDEAVOR HAS ELECTION OPEN YEAR FOR AUXILIARY

MIDWAY CITY.—Election of officers featured the monthly business meeting of the Intermediate Christian Endeavor society held recently at the home of Pauline Birdwell, South Jackson street, when Geraldine Logan was named president.

Other officers chosen were Ted Hazard, vice president; Aileen Borgeson, secretary, and Ralph Fury, treasurer. At the conclusion of the business meeting the young people enjoyed games and refreshments served by the hostesses.

END RITES AT SILVER ACRES

SILVER ACRES.—The Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Harrison, who have been conducting evangelistic services at the Community church for the past two weeks, will conclude the series on Sunday evening, the Rev. Carl Jungkeit, pastor, announced today.

The Woman's missionary society of the church will meet next Thursday at the home of Mrs. Hallie Patterson.

Mrs. G. E. Fergus Called By Death

GARDEN GROVE.—Funeral services for Mrs. Grace Elizabeth Fergus, 28, who died Wednesday evening at her home on Lampson road after a short illness, will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. at the chapel of Backs, Terry and Campbell, in Anaheim. A Christian Science reader will officiate and interment will be in Long Beach.

Mrs. Fergus had lived in this district about 20 years, and at her present home for the past eight years. Survivors include her husband, W. Grant Fergus; three children, Arthur, Barbara and Nancy; her mother, Mrs. Helen Holdsworth, of Anaheim, and a brother, Harold Holdsworth, of Lost Hills, Cal.

Grove B.Y.P.U. Has Party

GARDEN GROVE.—Members of the Junior B. Y. P. U. gathered at the home of Grace Lovell Arrow-smith for an afternoon of games Tuesday. Mrs. E. L. Arrowsmith, assisted by Mrs. George Schumacher, prepared sandwiches and served them to the young people who included Joyce Phillips, of Chino, a house guest at the Arrow-smith home; Evelyn Miller, Bobby Paires, Ora Mae Beasley, Cora May Hill, Billy Payne and William Hill.

ETHIOPIA IS TOPIC FOR ROTARY

ORANGE.—Dr. Tesla Nicola, now of San Bernardino, but recently returned from Ethiopia, was speaker at a meeting of the Rotary club Thursday. Dr. Nicola was a medical missionary for many years in African countries, and returned to the United States two weeks before the Italians took possession of the country.

In telling of the people, he said that there are many tribes in the interior who do not know yet that they are under the Italian government. Ethiopia could easily feed all of Italy, he added, as the products of the country are varied. The climate of the capital, Addis Ababa, is similar to that of San Diego, he said.

The speaker was connected with a hospital at the capital, and saw the people as they really are. The natives are kind to the old, and treat children well, he said, and while there are some slaves, these are treated as one of the family, and not abused. The king was a progressive man, and did more to establish civilization in four years than had previously been done in 40 years.

The meeting was in charge of H. D. Nichols, and Dr. Arthur Nies was program chairman.

CIRCUS ACTS COMING TO MARKET

Grand Central Broadway
Entrance Merchants
Hosts Tomorrow

Saturday will be Circus day at the Broadway entrance to the Grand Central market, at Broadway and Second streets.

There will be a clown, a trained duck, a real hill-billy band, and other entertainment features.

There will be free balloons, free peanuts, and free ham sandwiches, made with ham cured by the new sweet pickling process developed by George Klamm.

Merchants at the Broadway entrance are sponsoring the event, which will bring a day of special values as well as a day of fun and entertainment. Sponsors are Wayne's Independent grocery, operated by Wayne Reafsynder; the Broadway market, operated by George F. Klamm; Grand Central Fruit market, operated by Murdock Watkins; and Morrison's dairy, operated by Miss Viola Morrison.

Clown to Caper
Ko-Ko, the Komical Klown, a favorite of children all over the United States, will provide mirth and merriment. He is bringing his trick dog.

Saturday also will be the opening day of a contest to select a name for the new meat pickling process developed by George Klamm of the Broadway market. Five valuable prizes will be offered. Free ham sandwiches, made with meat cured in the new way, will be given away.

At the Broadway entrance will be Folger's Orange County Ramblers, a real hill-billy band, who will bring an entire day's program of music and song. And Oscar, the Folger Duck, will vie with Ko-Ko with his own bag of tricks.

Pigeon Messages
The Folger coffee people are bringing their famous carrier pigeons, which will carry free pigeon-grams. A limited number of customers will have the opportunity of sending carrier pigeon messages free to any part of the United States.

Folgers' pigeons are of the same type used by the United States government during the World war. A champion racing pigeon, one of the fastest known, will be turned loose at 4 p. m. to race to his home against time.

Eats Are Free
Decorations at the Broadway entrance will carry out the Circus day idea, and the sponsoring merchants will add to the "circusy" feeling by giving away free lemonade, free peanuts, and free balloons. Adults will be given free ham sandwiches in order to acquaint them with the new meat pickling process recently perfected by George Klamm.

FIVE KILLED IN CAR'S PLUNGE

DARLINGTON, Md. (AP)—Five persons, bound for their homes in Florida and Georgia after three months work in New Jersey potato fields, died in the plunge of a truck down a steep embankment near here yesterday. Sixteen injured, several critically, are in a hospital at Elkton.

George D. Hart, 57, Hastings, Fla., driver of the truck and organizer of the group of itinerant workers, died at the wheel. The other dead, three negro men and one negro woman, were tossed from the rear of the truck.

Lawrence Yelvington, owner of the truck, blamed the crash on a defective tire and a slippery road.

Son-in-law of Haile Sees Rome

ROME. (AP)—Ras Gugsa, fuzzy-haired son-in-law of Haile Selassie, one of the first traitors to his cause, stared big-eyed today at the sights of Italy.

Rewarded with a trip to the country of his new rulers by the Italian government, he visited Monfalcone to watch construction of the battleship Vittorio Veneto.

32 Arabs Held For Bomb Plot

JERUSALEM—Police announced today the arrest of 32 Arabs on charges of implication in a bombing plot against Jews. The prisoners were taken in a raid on a Moslem sporting club in Jaffa, an Arab city adjoining the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv.

MORALS CASES PLAGUE NAZIS

BERLIN. (AP)—A new series of immorality trials, similar to those of last May in which 200 Franciscans were accused of improper relations with youths, are producing many prison and jail sentences throughout the Rhineland, it was learned here today.

This time, however, persons from all walks of life are involved—merchants, government employees, industrialists, physicians, workers and clergymen.

The district court at Bonn has been trying 88 cases. So far 20 jail terms have been meted out, ranging from one year to 18 months.

The district court at Muenster, meeting behind closed doors, was similarly occupied with what the presiding judge characterized as "a veritable plague" which must be met with swift measures.

Five already have been sentenced to terms ranging from a month to three years.

WOULD PERFECT LAND TITLE

Declaring that several persons assert claims against lots which she purchased at a sheriff's sale under a foreclosure action brought by herself, Mary S. Long yesterday filed a quiet title action in superior court here.

Any claims are fraudulent and collusive in an attempt to prevent satisfaction of a judgment rendered in her favor in 1934 against Grace Taylor, Mr. Long's complaint alleged. She asked $375 from Grace Taylor, Mrs. Long's conveyer for alleged illegal possession of part of the property in question. The property is in Newport Heights. Harold A. McCabe, deputy district attorney, is attorney for Mrs. Long.

MEXICAN HOUSE RIOT HURTS 10

MEXICO CITY. (AP)—Leftist blocs of Mexico's congress were dissolved today to help President Lazaro Cardenas stop wrangling within his official family.

The house bloc voted unanimously to heed the president's wish and dissolve, but nothing preceded the senate vote Wednesday night.

Ten persons were injured before 50 police arrived and restored order in the senate, which finally voted, 30 to 0, to end the leftist wing's organization.

Five minutes before, the senate voted to expel Jose Maria Davila, successful candidate in the federal district in recent elections.

Magnus Johnson In Oxygen Tent

LICHTFIELD, Minn. (AP)—Magnus Johnson, former congressman whose ready wit and frequent expletive "py golly" made him a familiar figure in Washington a few years ago, was placed in an oxygen tent yesterday as his attack of pneumonia showed no signs of abating.

Hospital physicians said the former United States senator and representative was a "very sick man."

Man, 100, Walks Eight Miles To See His Doctor

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—W. E. Miller, 100 years old last April 6, walked eight miles to see his doctor because he didn't feel quite up to par.

"Relax more," advised the physician. "You're too active for a man of your age."

Miller walked home again and took an hour's rest before sauntering a mile to a church service.

They Make Mountain Music

Folger's Orange County Ramblers, above, will be on hand all day tomorrow to entertain patrons of the Broadway entrance merchants at the Grand Central Market as a feature of Circus Day. There will be many other entertainment features.

Klamm Offers Prizes for Name of New Process

So busy has George F. Klamm been in the past few weeks meeting the demand for meat cured by his new sweet pickling process, that he has been unable to find a name for the new product.

So today he announced a contest, to start tomorrow with the Circus Day event sponsored by merchants at the Broadway entrance to the Grand Central Market, to select a name for the product. Valuable prizes will be awarded to winners.

The contest will close Friday, Sept. 4, and winners will be announced the following day at 3 p. m. over the loud speaker system. Entry blanks may be obtained by customers at the Broadway Market.

First prize will be $5 in cash. Second prize is a sweet pickled ham. Third prize is $2.50 in cash. Fourth prize is a sweet pickled shoulder, and fifth prize is a sweet pickled beef tongue.

Since Klamm developed the process a few weeks ago, the demand has been so sensational, especially for the pickled pork, that Klamm has been busy most of the time with the intricate process. He has had no time to name the product. The contest will not only find a name, but will bring valuable prizes to the five fortunate winners who submit the best names.

King Edward's Face on Stamps

LONDON. (AP)—King Edward's picture will appear on British stamps for the first time next Tuesday.

The initial issue will continue until Sept. 5, after which George V stamps will be supplied until stocks are exhausted.

The new stamps are the same size and color as the present issue, but of simpler, more striking design.

Former Senator Poindexter Weds

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Miss Poindexter of Iremee, Va., former U. S. senator from Washington, and Mrs. Elinor Jackson Junkin Latane of Hartford, were married yesterday in the Trinity college chapel.

Poindexter was in the senate from 1913 to 1923 and then was U. S. ambassador to Peru until 1928.

Bedspread Gay Takes To Applique

Dress up your bedroom in applique. Here, in its simplest form, it makes this bouquet of morning glories a delightful bit of needlework. Use up your scraps of pink, blue and white or select three shades of one of these colors. Outline and blanket stitch complete the design. Small sprays form a bolster and corner motifs or can be used on scarfs and pillows to make a complete bedroom set. In pattern 5657 you will find a transfer pattern of a motif 11 1/4 x 14 inches; three and three reverse motifs 4 1/2 x 5 inches; the applique pattern piece; color suggestions; material requirements; illustrations of all stitches needed.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to Santa Ana Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 East Fifth street. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and pattern number.

HULL STANDS PAT ON RED

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Secretary Hull has declined to reconsider the state department's action in declining to permit William Gallacher, Communist member of the British parliament, to enter this country because of his political belief.

State department officials said Gallacher not only was a member of the British Communist party but of the central executive committee of the Communist International, the headquarters of which are now in Moscow.

The Civil Liberties union said Gallacher wished to visit his sisters in Chicago, but was refused an American visa when he applied for it in London and a later application also has been turned down.

NEW YORK. (AP)—The American Civil Liberties union announced it would appeal to the department of labor against a ruling of the state department in Washington barring entrance into the United States of William Gallacher, British Communist.

MISSING JUDGE HUNT RESUMES

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Two Los Angeles detectives started an expedition yesterday into the Cuyamaca mountains near San Diego in search of a man reported to have identified himself as former New York Supreme Court Justice Joseph Crater, mysteriously missing for six years.

Assistant Police Chief Joseph Taylor ordered the search. The detectives are Capt. Walter C. Allen and Lieut. Chester Lloyd.

They were to be guided in the mountains by Lucky Blackiet, prospector, who reported to police Tuesday he had met there a man who said he was Crater. Blackiet described the man as about six feet tall, 60 years of age and weighing 200 pounds.

Crater would be 47 years of age now. At the time he disappeared, he weighed 185 pounds.

Arctic Expedition Is on Way Home

REYKJAVIK, Iceland. (AP)—The British-East Greenland expedition, returning to civilization after a year in Greenland, arrived yesterday at Isa Fjord in Northwest Iceland en route to England aboard the Norwegian sealing ship Saetes.

The expedition, which included two women, lived during nearly the entire year in the uninhabited region of the Arctic circle to carry out geological and botanical investigations.

Three Burn to Death in House

CORSICANA, Tex. (AP)—Three persons were fatally burned when a farm house in the Pursley community 14 miles southwest of here was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin.

The dead: Dixie Lorene Massey, 23, invalid daughter of J. D. Massey of Pursley, and Leonard Davis, 4 years, and Johnny Davis, 2, sons of Mrs. Myrtle Davis of Corsicana. The mother of the children, officers said, had left them at the Massey home.

FORM AUTHORS' CLUB
HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Irvin S. Cobb has announced formation of the Authors' club to replace the defunct Writers' club. The membership, he said, would be open to screen and fiction writers, and to newspapermen and women. Cobb is the president.

Poindexter was in the senate from 1913 to 1923 and then was U. S. ambassador to Peru until 1928.

Komical Klown to Kut Kapers

There'll be plenty of fun for youngsters and oldsters tomorrow when Ko-Ko, the Komical Klown, and his trick dog, above, provide rollicking comedy for the Circus Day event of merchants at the Broadway entrance to the Grand Central Market. Free lemonade, balloons, and peanuts will be given.

SCIENCE UNABLE TO SOLVE MYSTERY OF SILICOSIS

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—Science has one mystery yet to solve in silicosis, the most dangerous of all dust diseases.

The mystery is why silica, the dust responsible, turns into a poison when ground to particles the size of bacteria. The surprising behavior of silica was explained yesterday at the Harvard tercentenary by Dr. W. Irving Clark and Prof. Philip Drinker at the Harvard school of public health.

Beach sand is almost pure silica. Silica is part of the beauty of opals and occurs in quartz, flint, sandstone, jasper, and many other common substances. In all of them it is harmless to human beings.

When ground fine enough to fly in the air particles of silica cause a distinct, new lung disease.

The particles have the power to cause fibrous growths in lung tissues even years after the bits of dust have lodged in the lungs. When the dust particles enter the lung they are engulfed by wandering, white blood cells. These white cells then move with their cargoes away from the red lung tissue.

They carry the dust into the lymph vessels of the lungs, minute passage ways for the flow of lymph, a clear white fluid. The lymph passages become blocked and thereupon set up growth of the silicosis fibers. The silica dust kills a good many of the white corpuscles which are trying to carry it away.

The victims, said Dr. Clark, become susceptible to tuberculosis, pneumonia and other respiratory diseases. These diseases are likely to kill them before silicosis produces fatal interferences with breathing. The only method of treatment, Dr. Clark said, is prevention.

G. M. Plans Huge Plant for East

NEW YORK. (AP)—General Motors Corporation announced today it will build one of the largest assembly plants for passenger cars in the world at Linden, N. J. The plant, which will assemble motors for delivery to the East Coast region and overseas territories, will have a normal capacity of 120,000 cars a year.

Establishment of the Linden plant marks the second step this year in the decentralization of production of some of the General Motors lines. The first move was the opening in May of the plant of the new Southern California division of General Motors, at Los Angeles, Calif.

L. A. WOMAN KILLED
TRINIDAD, Colo. (AP)—Gertrude Pursell, 41, of Los Angeles, was instantly killed, and two women riding with her were slightly injured yesterday when an automobile driven by Miss Pursell struck a mound of loose dirt on a newly-graded stretch of U. S. Highway No. 350, near Earl, Colo., and overturned. Injured were Mildred Keys, Ventura, Calif., teacher, and Mrs. Florence Rose of Lincoln, Ill.

Pursell was in the senate from 1913 to 1923 and then was U. S. ambassador to Peru until 1928.

OCEAN PLANE RACE IS SET FOR 1937

Event Across Atlantic on Anniversary of Lindbergh Flight

PARIS. (AP)—Air Minister Pierre Cot, in a telegram to the convention of the International Aeronautic Federation at Warsaw, announced an air race from New York to Paris on the tenth anniversary of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's famous flight—May 21, 1927.

Organizers of the race hoped to attract at least 20 racers. It was hoped the famous aviator himself would come to Le Bourget field to greet the winner.

ONE OUT OF 330 HAS STATE JOB

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—One person out of every 330 in California is in the employ of the state, William Brownrigg, executive officer of the state personnel board, estimated today.

Brownrigg said there were 17,709 on the state payroll, exclusive of approximately 6000 employed by the University of California and the relief administration.

Of the 17,709, some 16,211 are employed full-time. 1498 part-time, with an additional 500 to 1000 who get seasonal employment. A large majority—15,700—are civil service employees.

Sacramento county, where the state capital is situated, employs 3425, with San Francisco and Los Angeles counties following in order with 2379 and 2364, respectively, Brownrigg revealed.

FIELDS TO HEAD FARM CHORUS

Election of Isadore Fields of Garden Grove as chairman of the Orange county farm bureau chorus was announced today. Other officers are Mrs. Lois C. Cook, Tustin, vice chairman; Mrs. W. C. Armstrong, Foot Hill, librarian; Mrs. A. F. Schroeder, West Orange, hospitality chairman, and H. H. Freese, Anaheim, secretary-treasurer.

The chorus has an enrollment of 61 and is expected to reach 100 early in September. It will make its first official appearance in Orange county Sept. 29 at the public speaking contest at Anaheim, sponsored by the home department of the farm bureau.

Seeks Support For Daughter

Alleging that her husband, Arthur Lee Caster, obtained a divorce in Roger Mills, Okla., without her knowledge or consent, Mrs. Augusta Caster yesterday started suit in the superior court here, asking that Caster be required to pay a monthly sum for the support of their daughter.

Hank Winston, Brooklyn Dodger hurler, was on the mound pitching to the St. Louis Cardinals three hours after he reported from a Brooklyn farm.

SANTA ANA, ORANGE COUNTY, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, AUGUST 28, 1936

ORANGE COUNTY PER CAPITA BUYING BEATS NATIONAL AVERAGE

RETAIL SALES $26,353,000 IN YEAR

Each Person Spends an Average of $222 in Twelve Months

Orange county residents are buying $18 more worth of retail goods per year than their average national brothers.

Per capita retail sales during 1935, announced today by the commerce department in the first federal purchasing compilation ever made, indicate Orange county residents spent $26,353,000 during the year, an average of $222. The national average was $204.

Beats Neighbors

The state's total sales amounted to $1,692,897,000, with wholesale receipts reaching $2,255,256,000. The department estimated the gross figures to be higher today, but said it expected the ratios would hold true.

The figures, contained in the commerce department's 1936 market data handbook, showed Orange county also has a higher per capita purchase rating than two similar Southern California counties.

Imperial county residents spent only $220, and Riverside, $212, the survey indicated. San Bernardino county topped the Orange county mark, however, with $238 per capita.

Cities Higher

Santa Ana residents contributed even more to the county total. Residents of cities and towns with more than 2500 population, according to the survey, spent $363 apiece, bringing up the lower rural spending average.

California as a whole didn't do so badly, either. In 38 of the state's 58 counties, per capita retail sales were higher than the national average.

Wants Closer Crash Probes

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Charging present methods "do not reach the real violators who are causing most of the accidents," Newton Kendall, Los Angeles assistant city attorney, urged use of scientific examination to find what laws if any were violated in automobile accidents and by whom.

Such investigators would study all facts surrounding traffic crashes. "Coordinating enforcement and traffic safety engineering will thus remove the reckless drivers and relieve innocent motorists from the stigma of a criminal record," he told a traffic safety conference here.

Ickes Has Plan For PWA Funds

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Secretary Ickes has predicted it would be possible to allot the entire $300,000,000 authorized for public works administration projects under revised presidential regulations.

Ickes said the first projects restudied would be those for which municipalities had issued, or authorized, funds to pay 55 per cent of the cost.

Bourbons Belittle G.O.P. Leadership; Republicans Say Relief Act Is Doomed

The Journal conducts this forum so that its readers may receive full and authoritative information upon the issues of the presidential campaign. Horace C. Head, chairman of the county Democratic campaign committee, and B. Z. McKinney are in charge of that party's contributions. Howard Irwin, head of the Republican county central committee, and Dr. W. E. Dixon are contributing their party's articles.—Editor's note.

By THE REPUBLICANS

Another act of the socialist administration at Washington, which attempted the regimentation of all business, agriculture, labor, and even putting into servitude the defenseless American men and women, who were forced by the depression to seek relief, is on the road to the supreme court. If this act is rendered unconstitutional, it will destroy the greatest political racket that was ever foisted on the American public.

Charge Coercion

Although President Roosevelt's attention has been called time and again to the political racket of forcing men and women on relief to pay part of their salaries to the Democratic campaign funds, they are still being intimidated and coerced to give up their constitutional right as free men and women and forced to agree to vote the Democratic ticket to hold their jobs. President Roosevelt has done nothing about it.

The entire relief act is being attacked as unconstitutional before Federal District Judge Vaughn in Oklahoma City as per the following Associated Press report.

Restraining Order

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 25 (AP)—Federal District Judge Vaughn today halted construction on Enid's $435,000 federal low-cost housing project.

Judge Vaughn granted a restraining order to John Carr, an apartment owner. Carr attacked the constitutionality of the entire 1936 relief act and the slum clearance project.

Judge Vaughn announced he will rule on a permanent injunction after a hearing Sept. 8.

Carr asserted that law under which the project is operating is unconstitutional because it is an attempted delegation of congressional power; that there are no slums in Enid, and the project is unnecessary.

By THE DEMOCRATS

When a problem exists, either in our own lives, or in our national lives, we cannot simply close our eyes, shut our ears, and say that it does not exist, because we cannot think of a solution. That is what was done during the Republican administration.

We can expect no rejuvenation now. They have had, except for the administration of Cleveland, Woodrow Wilson and Franklin Roosevelt, control of the government, practically since the Civil war. And yet have they abolished child labor? Did they ever make one move toward an old age pension? Did they secure bank deposits? Did they regulate stock markets?

Where's Leadership?

If in 1929, when this country started on its down-hill roll, they had the ingenuity, the foresight, or the courage to have adopted even 50 per cent of the New Deal laws, there would never have been any depression. They lacked leadership. Where do they offer it now? Yes, just where is the leadership of the Republican party? Is it really in Topeka, or is it the same old gang in Wall street wrapped in the cellophane of the Liberty league?

For all the vituperation and criticism and abuse which is coming to Roosevelt and the New Deal, one would think that they are enraged simply because prosperity is returning and they didn't think of it, or else that they are not willing to have the farm income increase $3,000,000,000 since 1932, and have business increase such as this in 1935:

Failures Drop

Three hundred eighty-seven per cent for the machinery group, 187 per cent for the auto accessories, 96 per cent for building equipment, 94 per cent for manufacturers, 197 per cent for railroads, and 2000 leading industrial corporations in the United States increase their net earnings 32 per cent in 1934, over 1933, and 47½ per cent in 1935.

They give every evidence of actually being angry over such a fact as this appearing in news items last week:

"May tire shipments were 43 per cent ahead of those of May, 1935," "Dun and Bradstreet reported

AIR CARAVAN ITINERARY REVEALED

National Race Delegation to Stop First at City of Fullerton

Eight Orange county towns will receive an official invitation to attend the National air races in Los Angeles, Sept. 4 to 7, when a motorcade of members of the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce visits the county Thursday, Sept. 3.

Bringing Ruth Elder, noted aviatrix, Shirley Hill, queen of the recent Elks national convention, and Robert Kingsley, general chairman of the air races, the motorcade will arrive at 11:15 a. m. in Fullerton.

Civic greetings will be extended to Mayor Harry Maxwell at the California hotel before the Junior Chamber of Commerce members proceed to Anaheim for a similar ceremony with Mayor Charles H. Mann.

After being luncheon guests of the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce, the motorcade will go to Orange to greet Mayor A. C. Boice at 1:40 p. m.

Mayor Fred C. Rowland will welcome the visitors at the Santa Ana city hall at 2:20 p. m. Other stops will be made by the motorcade in Laguna Beach, at 3:30 p. m.; Newport and Balboa, 4 p. m.; and Huntington Beach, 4:50 p. m. In these cities they will be greeted by Mayor L. F. Mallow, Mayor Harry H. Williamson and Mayor Willis H. Warner.

George Hansen Lauded as Pioneer of Original Anaheim Colony

(Men are remembered after their death for their unselfish service to their fellow men. Robert Gardner of Orange has written a series of articles about pioneers of this section, which The Journal is publishing in order to preserve the memory and deeds of outstanding characters. Today's sketch tells about George Hansen.—Editor)

We hear a great deal about Anaheim and the founding of a successful colony, but strange, the man who has the number one spot in that colonization is neglected. My column today is in his praise.

George Hansen was a business man. He saw the possibilities to colonize so he influenced a group of men to organize the Los Angeles Vineyard society.

Hansen took a party of men in 1857 over all of this territory to find a site to locate a settlement. They chose, after due consideration, the site where Anaheim now stands. They bought the land for $2 an acre.

Hansen surveyed the tract of 1165 acres and divided it into 50 lots of 20 acres each and 50 house lots with 14 additional lots for schools, public buildings etc.

He dug the first ditch to bring water from the Santa Ana river.

LOCAL RADIO TEAM HOLDS RECORD

Group of Contestants Is Largest So Far Picked in California

The selection by local judges of a mixed vocal quartet and a saxophone quintet among the six winning acts in the "California's Hour" radio talent tournament for Orange county makes the team from here the largest yet selected in the statewide contest.

The saxophone quintet was something new in the experience of the program's talent scouts, they admitted today. They are five young players who formed a group to enter this contest. Their two days of practice together brings them $100 and a chance to win up to $850 more if they click with the California radio audience.

Began at Six

The other group, "The Modern Melodists," is comprised of twin sisters and a pair of brothers from Anaheim whose recent victory in a Christian Endeavor contest welded them into a vocal quartet.

Georgia Bell Walton's musical career started at the age of 5, when she persistently followed anyone she saw carrying a violin on the street and begged him to play for her. Her grandmother thought she had better do something about this, and bought Georgia a violin for her sixth birthday. She has practiced six hours a day ever since, and is now with the federal music project in Santa Ana.

Colorado Winner

Arras Bugge is a Norwegian boy who came to the United States 10 years ago to make the most of his new degree in electrical engineering. After playing the violin in his spare time for eight years, he took up professional singing in earnest two years ago.

G. Willard Bassett is well known locally as a member of the famed Elks club double quartet in Santa Ana. His silvery tenor voice recently won him the Colorado state solo contest.

Sally Coye Mueller of Orange has sung solo in Behymer concerts in Los Angeles, and is probably Orange county's most famed soprano. Love of music led her to dance on the streets of Los Angeles at the age of 4.

Sharps and Flats From The Political Bandwagon

G. O. P. LEADER SAYS EAST LIKED LONDON

NEW YORK. (AP)—Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr., eastern division Republican campaign manager, said today the eastern trip of Gov. Alf M. Landon had a "very beneficial effect" on the Republican campaign. Returning to the eastern headquarters from Buffalo, where he participated in the two days of conference with Republican leaders, the Massachusetts congressman said "Governor Landon's visit to Pennsylvania and New York stimulated the enthusiasm of party workers."

FARLEY SAYS LONDON SPEECH "COCKEYED"

NEW YORK. (AP)—James A. Farley, national Democratic chairman, said the word "cockeyed," used by Gov. Alf M. Landon, Republican presidential candidate, to describe the 1936 tax law, "should be applied" to Landon's speech itself.

"After reading Gov. Landon's Speech," Farley said, "I think the word 'cockeyed'... should be applied to the speech itself and not to the law which he applied it."

DEFENDS ROOSEVELT'S DROUGHT INSPECTION

GRAND FORKS, N. D. (AP)—Henry Holt, Democratic congressional candidate, described President Roosevelt's visit to this state as "humanitarian, not politics in spite of what Mr. Lemke says."

Holt's statement was a reply to the charge of Rep. William Lemke, Union party presidential candidate, who claimed Democratic national headquarters were "soft peddling the political aspects" of Mr. Roosevelt's tour.

"With our population suffering one of the worst drought damages in history," said Holt, "and everyone united to alleviate the effects of the disaster, it appears to me

NEED FOG TO SPEED NUT HARVEST

Picking Will Begin in Early Part of Next Month Here

Wanted—some foggy weather! That is the big worry of walnut growers in Santa Ana and vicinity. They need foggy weather to aid in opening walnuts so the annual harvest will start as usual early next month.

Workers may start harvesting the local nut crop around Sept. 10, with the local packing house scheduled to start operations in the last week of September—if the foggy weather arrives, according to A. E. Confer, manager of the Santa Ana Walnut Growers' association.

At top production, the packing house usually employs from 50 to 75 people, but Confer warned today that the same workers are used each year, so there will be very few jobs open to newcomers. The house will operate on two six-hour shifts as many days a week as are necessary, he added. Cracking of nuts will start about Dec. 1 in the local packing house.

Extreme hot weather during the summer has not damaged the nut crop, Confer said. The crop will run about 60 per cent of last year, with the nuts of apparently high quality.

Wear Hair Soft, Loose in Summer

By JACQUELINE HUNT
The summer coiffures are both charming and practical. Harriet Hilliard, the charming screen star, parts her hair in the middle and takes it back from the forehead in soft, loose waves. She exposes her ears and has soft ringlets at the sides and back to give softness and beauty to the coiffure. There are three tiers of the curls over her ears to make a soft kind of frame for her face. Two rows of curls nestled at the neckline.

Such a hair arrangement is smart enough for evening wear and casual enough for sports.
Keep Coiffure Simple
If your hair is long and naturally straight, do not bother about waves or permanents this summer. Simply part your hair where it is most flattering to your face and comb it back into a simple knot, or put it in braids that you can pin coronet fashion around your head.

For the Bride
There are some lovely coiffures for brides shown recently, that you might like for evening. One called for fairly short hair, parted rather high on the side and combed back from the forehead. There was an intricate arrangement of curls all over the head with lilies of the valley artistically posed among them.

Another style for brides that would be equally lovely with your new hat that perches on top of your head, had the hair swirled smoothly across the back of the head, parted behind each ear and waved softly on top. There was one curl at each side and one across the forehead to frame the face softly. Rows of ringlets lay at the back of the neck.

For Thirsty Guests

By JUDITH WILSON
The cool drink season is still with us and the wise ones keep on hand a supply of recipes for refreshments that can be whipped together whenever the doorbell rings.
Here are recipes for some cooling drinks:

Hawaiian Highballs
Combine 2 cups strong cold tea, 1 cup pineapple juice, 1 pint bottle ginger ale or charged water, the juice of 2 lemons, the juice of 2 oranges and 3/4 cup of rather heavy sugar syrup. Serve in tall highball glasses over cracked ice. Garnish with a slice of orange, 1/4 slice canned pineapple and a sprig of mint.

Currant Highballs
Combine 1/2 cup currant jelly, 4 tablespoons sugar, 1 cup lemon juice, 1/2 cup orange juice and 2 cups water and beat thoroughly with a rotary egg beater. Pour over ice in tall glasses, add 1 pint carbonated water and garnish with thin pieces of fruit and a sprig of mint. This is a good way to use up any kind of jelly that didn't "jell" satisfactorily.

Start Work on Sewer Sept. 7

Work on one mile of new sewerage system for the La Habra Sanitary district, in the city of La Habra, is expected to start about Sept. 7, it was announced today by Dan Mulherson, county WPA director.
The government will furnish labor and materials totalling $8274 for the project, Mulherson said, while the sponsors will furnish about $2331. Work will include installation of 8-inch sewer line and 10 manholes.

Your Dreams Are Full of Meaning for You

Dave can't figure out why he dreams night after night that he's looking into his auto engine—to see what's wrong!
Awake, he never gives the car a second thought. His wife drives it. Bill, the mechanic, keeps it in order. Why should an object that's no concern by day, fill his dreams?
His dream of looking into an auto engine means he secretly suspects something's hindering his progress. What could that stumbling block be? Poor health? His temper which makes dealings with business associates difficult? It would pay Dave to study himself and find out.

Don't dismiss dreams as meaningless! Often they hold warnings. Our 32-page booklet tells the meaning of many common dreams. Dreams show your personality better than waking actions or thoughts. Learn to interpret your own cosmic, levitation, negligence and cartoon dreams.

Send 10c for your copy of The Meaning of Dreams to Santa Ana Journal, Home Service, 117 East Fifth street, Santa Ana, Calif. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

Vaccinate for Smallpox in Summer

By CLAUD N. CHRISMAN, M.D.
There are many things that should be taken care of during the summer so that your child will enter school in the fall in the best condition to combat infections he is sure to meet when he comes in contact with other children in closed rooms. One of the most important, though often neglected preventive procedures is vaccination against smallpox.

Vaccination has decreased the amount of smallpox enormously, and it could soon be eliminated if every child were vaccinated. It is not dangerous. It can be done safely in the summer as in winter, and the week or two of discomfort during the vaccination period does not interfere with school.

Some persons think that summer is not a good time to do this. It is as good a time, or better, than any. We all hang to the old idea that wounds become infected more in summer than in cold weather. Since the introduction of antiseptics and sterilization of instruments, that is not so.

"Our Mr. Peterkin" is again in the public eye. George Peterkin is the State Highway patrolman supervising the public school buses in Orange county. His record there has been outstanding for the number of miles travelled without accident.

That this record has been due to his foresightedness in taking and showing pictures of the buses loading, constant vigilance and careful schooling of those affected is generally agreed.

Some of us have seen his camera work on exhibition at the Bowers Museum last spring in conjunction with the Camera Club Show.

Sunday, the Los Angeles Times carried two of his prints. These were first prize winners in their respective classes, baby and still life.

"Baby in the Bath" is a pleasant recording of a daily routine even to the put-forth tongue of the subject.

"Sunset on the Beach" has caught the last glimmerings of the day through a magnificent panorama of clouds. In contrast to the majesty of the skies is the cluttered, and typical, Sunday beach.

Photography is often regarded as mechanical, since the resulting print is achieved by using physics and chemistry. Without selection it is commonplace, banal. George Peterkin has shown a selective quality that puts it upon a high plane.

Tuesday night I went to hear the Federal Music Project Symphony perform Earl Fraser's "Dance Pastorale" and "Fantasy." The composer being at the piano for the latter number.

Elimination of the songs Sadie Greene was to have sung, and a "Mazurka" by the full orchestra gave me little opportunity to get a complete picture of Earl Fraser, composer.
Fraser has studied under Tobias Matthay in London. He gives brilliant recitals, has had marked success as a teacher. This I have heard from his friends, and mine. I liked the "Pastorale." In it there is the imagery of moving forms and quiet retreats. It sings, for through it all there is the melody thread.

"Fantasy" proved to be a brilliant show-piece for the piano. Masters of the piano know its caprices, humor its weaknesses. Fraser has taken a pliable form, wrapped it in modern tonalities, and made it to sparkle in the light. Tuesday night was not a sufficient introduction to the versatile Mr. Fraser. We need to hear him more often.

I have said I came to California to see the eucalypti. I never tire of them in their varied moods, an especially fond of the frost-blue young trees.
Over Orange way, at Yorba and Fairhaven to be exact, Mrs. Fitch has a lovely row bordering her grove. It is handsomely offset by the warm tones of the autumn flowers in her beside-the-road garden.

This week, I saw marionettes in the making. Tustin kids are fortunate in having Mrs. Hazel Gowdy's intense interest in them. Librarian of the Tustin branch, Mrs. Gowdy has found time for a once-a-month Marionette Theater presentation of professional calibre. A-making were "Hansel" and "Gretel," featured players in the next all-star presentation.

FOOD BUYERS, ATTENTION!

Newspapers and other publications have, for some time, been telling you that, due to short crops, drought, and other reasons, food prices were advancing rapidly. We cannot deny this. Many wholesale prices have been advanced and more raises are expected any time. The buyers of Safeway contracted early for huge stocks of canned foods, which are being offered this week at unusually low prices. To you, Mr. and Mrs. Consumer, we say... Buy all the canned goods your pocketbook will stand. Buy in dozen and case lots for use during this coming winter.

FANCY BEEF ROAST

For a delicious and satisfying meal, try spaghetti and pot roast tonight! They just naturally go together.
Sear roast in olive oil and put in pot with brown chopped onions, peppers and garlic; add enough tomatoes to make generous amount of Spanish sauce. Season well, cover and cook roast until tender. Place whole carrots and whole small onions on top of meat about an hour before it is done. Serve on large platter—vegetables on one side, roast, boiled buttered spaghetti on the other. Sprinkle spaghetti with Parmesan cheese. Use pot sauce as gravy.
At your neighborhood Safeway meat market you'll find many cuts of top quality steer beef that are just the thing for pot roasting. Ask the market manager to show you one of these choice shoulder or chuck roasts, aged to the "peak of perfection" in flavor, and trimmed ready for the pot. And the price is low!

HOUSE-PARTY MURDER

Harriet Blanes, wealthy old invalid, is murdered in her bed in her isolated country house late one night in the month of a blizzard. In the house, aside from the servants, are her niece and nephew, Joan and Rickey Blanes; three men, Rodney Mains, Stephen Carts and William Grove, whom Miss Blanes had invited for the week-end as prospective suitors for Joan's hand; Timothy Reilly, whom Joan had invited, and Miss Andrews, trained nurse. Just prior to the tragedy, it had become known that Miss Blanes had a $100,000 necklace concealed in her room. As the blizzard has made it impossible to get in touch with the police, the room is locked for the night. As Joan is retiring, she suddenly hears a tap on her door.

CHAPTER VIII

"Jo, let me in." It was Rickey's voice, lowered to a whisper. With a gentle sigh of relief, Joan slipped into her dressing gown, and turned the key in the lock. Rickey brushed past her, shut the door and locked it again. Then he flung himself into a chair and lighted a cigarette. Joan sat on the edge of the bed and waited for him to speak.

"Listen," he said at last, "are you going to let Reilly and Grove run things?"

"Did you come to ask me that?" "I came to ask what you propose to do."

It was like Rickey, she thought wearily, to shove everything onto her shoulders. She sat for several minutes without answering, wondering just what she did propose to do. In the tired whiteness of her face, her eyes were like two black shadows, and her small, slender hands were clasped nervously in her lap. She felt so exhausted that it was hard to know exactly what should be done.

Timothy, she thought suddenly, would know, but Timothy... An unexpressed doubt which had been hovering in her mind took form now against her volition. Where had Timothy been and what had he been doing when she had so strangely disappeared after the lights went out?

"Not one of us has an alibi that I know of," she said, speaking more to herself than to Rickey.

"That you know of?"

She looked at him quickly. "Where were you?" she asked, puzzled by the one of his voice.

He avoided her eyes and bit at a fingernail.

"I was with Miss Andrews," he answered at length. "She wasn't reading, as she said. We were in her room talking all the time."

So that was the meaning of the glance had passed between them downstairs! Joan stared at her brother.

"You came to tell me that?" she demanded slowly.

"Why not?" he blustered.

"Joan couldn't answer him. A cold fear seemed to freeze her. No one else had thought yet of volunteering an alibi, but Rickey had not been able to wait until questioning before giving his. Guilty conscience? Joan clenched her hands.

"Rickey," she asked fiercely, "what are you trying to hide?"

His white face paled still more, but he shook his head and smashed out his cigarette.

"Nothing," he insisted but Joan couldn't help but be aware of the look of fear on his face. "Listen, Jo."

His voice held a pleading note now. "You and I have got to stick together against the others. Heaven knows what sort of a mess they'll make."

"I think," she answered slowly, "that we've all got to stick together, since one of us..."

She broke off, unable to put her thought into words. "At any rate," she continued hurriedly, "there is nothing to be done until morning. Please get now Rickey. I'm tired."

"All right," he stood up slowly. "But just one question: where were you after the lights went out?"

"Rickey!"

He was instantly contrite. "I'm sorry, Sis," and with a mumbled good-night, he quickly left the room.

After he had gone, Joan blew out the candle, and crept in between cold sheets of her bed. For a long time, she lay awake, listening to the monotonous moan of the wind, her thoughts jumbled and feverish. At last, exhausted, she fell asleep.

The little clock on the mantel was striking eleven when Joan opened her eyes again. For several seconds she lay, half awake, with a dull impression of having had a horrid dream. Then, as full consciousness returned, she sat up, pulled on her dressing gown, and slipped out of bed.

She went to the open window and pushed open the shutters. Snow blew in sharply against her face, stinging her eyelids. There was something refreshing in the cold against her cheeks, and she stood there looking out at the whirling white snow flakes. The dull leaden sky seemed to press down on the earth. Everywhere was whiteness—on the ground, great hills of whiteness; in the air, driving whirlwinds of snow. The blizzard was still raging, and there was no telling when it would cease.

Joan closed the window and began to dress rapidly. She was wondering if the others were already up, when there came a knock at the door and, a moment later, the chambermaid entered. She looked flustered and frightened.

"Well, Mary?" Joan asked gently.

"Please, miss, they're waiting for you," the servant stammered. "And, oh, miss, isn't it terrible!"

"Yes," Joan answered quietly, "it is terrible. Tell them I'll be right with them."

She gave a hurried brush to her hair, and went quickly out into the hall. Before Miss Blanes' closed door, the others were all waiting for her. Rickey and Miss Andrews looked like ghosts. But the others, in spite of strained faces, seemed rested. Even Rodney's eyes were a little less blood-shot than the night before, and Stephen had dressed carefully in dark blue, a soft black tie drooping over his low white collar.

Joan took in these details mechanically, her eyes immediately seeking Timothy's. He smiled at her.

"Don't you think you'd rather have breakfast first?" he asked.

"The rest of us have already been down."

"Thanks," Joan answered quietly. "I'll breakfast later."

In a minute the door was unlocked, and they flocked into the room and stood helplessly staring around. Aside from the dead woman on the bed and the disordered bedclothes, everything seemed quite tidy and in order.

"How about the necklace?" Timothy asked suddenly.

"Well, what about it?" Rodney's voice was sharp.

William looked inquiringly at Joan and Rickey.

"Do you know where it was hidden?"

Rickey shook his head and grunted. "I never knew anything in this house."

"I know," Joan said quietly. She dropped to her knees beside the bed and lifted the mattress, ran her fingers through an almost imperceptible slit in the covering of the box springs. When she withdrew her fingers, she was trembling. In the palm of her hand lay a chain of pearls—quite empty!

HAS THE HEAT
Got you
Down?

THESE HOT, sticky days slow you down. And too little sleep at night puts your nerves on edge.

The trouble may be more than the heat—it may be constipation. It pulls down energy, brings headaches, poor appetite, loss of pep and vitality.

Most people who suffer from constipation eat too little "bulk" in their summer meals. So wives have a big responsibility. They can help their families keep well and eager to enjoy the sport and fun of summer by serving a delicious ready-to-eat cereal regularly.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" much like that in leafy vegetables—but more of it. Within the body, it absorbs moisture, forms a soft mass, gently cleanses the system. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B to tone the intestines, and iron for the blood.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient to relieve and prevent common constipation. Stubborn cases may require ALL-BRAN oftener. How much better to enjoy this natural, laxative food instead of taking pills and drugs. Serve as a cereal, or use in cooking. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly for regularity—these hot days!

ICKES FLAYS LONDON AND HEARST

Talk Results in Quick Reaction by Leaders In G. O. P. Ranks

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Secretary Ickes' campaign speech in which he linked the names of Gov. Alf M. Landon and William Randolph Hearst, publisher, brought quick reaction today from Republican quarters.

The cabinet member, in a broadcast address last night, described Hearst as the "new Republican boss" who had cautioned Landon "against talking too much."

Evidence he said was given in court last July by George F. Harding, Republican national committeeman for Illinois, was used by Ickes in discussing what he called "the relationship existing between Governor Landon and Mr. Hearst."

Harding was quick to respond when informed of the Ickes statements. He was with Landon as the Republican presidential nominee's train crossed Illinois.

"Don't make me laugh. My lip is cracked," said Harding. "I just came from hearing Governor Landon make 10 speeches."

In his address Ickes read a memorandum he said was presented in a court case as being from Hearst to Harding, which read:

"I was very much impressed by what you had to say about Governor Landon. I feel that such views coming from such an important man as yourself would have a great and valuable influence."

"Doesn't Recall"

Harding declared at Chicago that he did not recall the conversation with Hearst, but said: "However, I do not care to dignify the charges with an answer. It seems that this is the only way they can attack Governor Landon."

Speaking under the auspices of the Republican national committee, William Hard said in a radio address from the capital last night it was "odd" that Ickes "should not know of the Hearst activities of the son of the gentleman whom he is supporting for the presidency."

Cites Elliott's Work
Hard went on to say that Elliott Roosevelt "is exercising his legal and moral right to be in the Hearst service at this very time. He serves Mr. Hearst as vice president of the Hearst radio broadcasting stations in Texas and Oklahoma. He also serves him as his representative in negotiations with the federal communications commission in Washington."

Secretary Ickes declared that Hearst's antagonism to the New Deal was attributable to the curtailment of "certain special privileges."

... and the soldiers rush forward to drag out the officer ... he's underneath a pile ... they haul him out by the feet ... he's unhurt, but saturated in Ethiopian blood ... it runs down his face from his matted hair ... he's very angry indeed ...

Then, in that awful light, there's a convulsive moment in the pile ... up to his knees drags a black man, coughing, a r m s pressed across his stomach ... the truck lights hit full on his upturned face ... eyes staring, mouth open ... the top of his head is bald ... there's a fringe of black kinky hair rimming the shiny surface ...

Even the walling hushes ... his lips move ... whispers "Abiete ... Abiete ... it's the native Amharic for mercy ... the lucky fellow gets it ... two leaps and the officer is in there, pistol in hand ... to the temple ... it crashes ...

Then the walling reaches a tremendous crescendo ... quickly the crowd is herded away, to spread through Addis Ababa word of what happens when you fail to submit peacefully ... toughest job that night was choosing, from the 150, the 50 who were to go ... most of them had committed no more crime than to have swords discovered in their native huts ... something everyone thought best to forget ... there were five Indians, British subjects, among those executed ...

And on Other Side
Then the other side ... 62 Italian laborers sleeping in a camp behind the lines ... no thought of danger ... Ethiopians get through, slaughter them all ... the bodies stripped, hacked ... one woman, wife of the engineer in charge ... the engineer killed her himself, before the Ethiopians got to her ... then blew up one end of the camp with a pistol shot into a case of explosives ...

Later, after the battle of Socota ... finding the village from which the raiding party came ... town of Selassie Haimanot ... 50 men captured there, some with wallets, money from the pockets of the dead laborers, pictures of their wives and kids ... they gave those Ethiopians to the soldiers themselves ... no one knows exactly what happened except those soldiers ... they didn't say.

(Tomorrow: Secret of a great Ethiopian retreat.)

Alf's Pa Likes to Read Wild and Woolly Stories

ESTES PARK, Colo. (AP)—An important stop when John M. Landon comes to town is at the book store.

Landon, father of Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, is "roughing it" on the ranch the Landon family leased for the summer. "He likes them wild and woolly," say those who know about what John Landon buys at the book store.

He came out today with several paper-back wild west and mystery stories.

SOVIET SEES MENACE OF GERMANY

MOSCOW, (AP)—Official organs of the Soviet government and the Communist party sounded a simultaneous "warning" today that Adolf Hitler is preparing a new surprise which will bring Europe closer to "slaughter."

Izvestia, the government organ, and Pravda, the official newspaper of the party, professed to see in violent anti-Soviet attacks by the German press a "provocative campaign of preparation for new foreign political adventures."

"It is just a smoke screen for Hitler to spring a new surprise which is demanded by his venture-some program," said Pravda. "German Fascism, armed to the teeth, is preparing new slaughter for Europe."

The newspaper declared increased preparations for war were sapping Germany and bringing its workers to the verge of food shortages and eventual starvation.

(Germany a few days ago doubled its compulsory military conscription term, and the Nazi press said "Russian militarism" was to blame.)

MORE ABOUT TAXES

some things that didn't show from the surface.

He paid: corporation income taxes, capital stock taxes, ad valorem taxes, manufacturers' license taxes, processing (or soil conservation) taxes, tax on matches, 5 per cent tax on tooth paste, 10 per cent tax on toilet preparations, crude petroleum taxes, taxes on pipe line transportation.

To the sum of 90 taxes. This in addition to licenses, fees, and numerous other taxes.

And besides: The California Taxpayers association has estimated that the per capita average tax levy of Orange county and its schools, but excluding municipal taxes, is $34.54 (last year) so in his rent, on his personal property, and in his purchases he paid, for his family of four, an average of $138.12 for the year.

Renters Pay
In addition to this the city of Santa Ana levied $283,033 general property tax, $42,600 licenses and permits, $12,000 fees, charges for service and similar things, and $241,000 special assessments, a total of $578,633, all of which got passed onto him in his role of ultimate consumer, and which, paid by an estimated population of 33,000, was $17.50 per capita, or $70 for his family of four.

"Oh, well," the fellow sitting next to me said, "I don't pay any of those property taxes and things—I don't own any property."

"Oh, you pay 'em," the wise old fellow said. "You pay rent, don't you? And you think your landlord would rent his property to you unless he could get his taxes and a fair return on his investment out of the rent money?"

State tax collections for 1935 averaged an estimated $23.77 per capita, or $95.08 for his family.

Building this all up together, we found he paid an average tax bill, that could be seen with the naked eye, of $303.20.

This didn't include any federal taxes, nor sums which are being spent from borrowings, being collected by a "taxes levied or collected" figure.

"You pay 'em, all right," the wise old fellow said.

Then just for fun we took a look at the $800 automobile the fellow next to me owns.

The manufacturer's price was $600. He paid a direct federal manufacturer's tax of 3 per cent on the value, or $18, passed on from the manufacturer. He paid a retail sales tax of 3 per cent on the $600, or $18. He paid a license tax of $3. There was $50 easily identified. We were only starting.

The manufacturer also paid a tax of 4 cents a pound on inner tubes and 2 1/2 cents a pound on tires. The fellow next to me paid those.

All Mixed Up
These taxes could be computed—but there were others.

The manufacturer paid a property tax on his plant in Michigan; he annually pays a corporate privilege tax. The dealers who supply him with parts and materials pay similar taxes. The railroads that haul the raw materials and the finished cars pay heavy taxes. All these get passed along to the fellow sitting next to me, plus an undetermined hundreds of taxes paid by mines and mills and cattlemen, farmers, and shrewdners.

So we quit, deciding that the same things held true to every blessed thing the fellow next to me ever bought, from his new suit to a coca-cola.

"You pay 'em," the old fellow started—

"Yeh," the fellow said to us all. "I pay 'em."

Formula for Dictatorship

DELUDED Americans who repeat, "It can't happen here" will be interested in the way that one European dictator achieved power. The process is described in the Christian Science Monitor, as follows:

Members of the majority party were placed in key police posts. Party adherents were formed into an auxiliary police.

A provocative opportunity was seized to establish civil martial law—abrogating constitutional guarantees.

A new election was held with a large minority party prevented from balloting.

A subsequent session of a national legislature, with further proscription of minority representatives, "amended" the constitution.

Under the amended constitution, a cabinet was authorized to govern by decree.

The cabinet decreed abolition of all opposition parties.

A "one party" election was held.

The "one party" legislature voted the cabinet the right to alter the constitution by decree.

Could that happen here? Not easily, of course. But the process was well under way in Louisiana where Huey Long, with his brass nerve, silver tongue and iron determination, became a little tin god. And if an assassin's bullet hadn't cut Huey's life short, the Kingfish might have projected his career upon the nation as he did upon Louisiana.

There's a formula for dictatorship now, just like there is another for Communist revolution. America must watch for the symptoms of each—and crush them at the start.

Orange county harbor will be featured in the county exhibit at the state and Los Angeles county fairs. Tell 'em all about it. It pays to advertise.

Advancement of Flying

A MORE or less routine report for the quarter ending June 30, just filed by the United Air Lines, serves sharply to bring to the public mind vast strides made in the flying game within a period easily encompassed by the memory of many who were alive when the first crude planes were flown not so many years ago.

The report, among other things, made public the fact that, in the period named, the company had operating revenues of $2,622,845, and that its lines flew 28,904,426 revenue passenger miles, 1,008,786,107 mail-pound miles and 383,512,301 express-pound miles. Record passenger-cargo loads were established.

Truly, the progress of flying, both in commercial and all other features, has been one of the most remarkable achievements of modern times.

The flying industry is still very young, and it is reasonable to believe it has only begun to develop its wonders. What the future will bring is beyond the imagination.

"I am a symbol of a state of mind," declares the Rev. Gerald Smith. It would be easy to agree with him if he said it is a state of no mind.

America Loses a Defender

SECRETARY OF WAR DERN was probably the only cabinet aide of President Roosevelt who escaped the barrage of Republican criticism directed against the inner circle of the New Deal. His record is explanatory.

Although Mr. Dern could not be classified as a militarist, he was a strong advocate of national preparedness, and he backed up high army officials in their program to make the U. S. army a highly efficient fighting force. He also took a lead in efficiently handling war department organization of flood control work, and administration of the CCC camps.

Following the military tradition, Mr. Dern was true to the sound belief that America must ever stand ready to defend her shores against foreign foes. He did a good job until the Dark Angel interfered. His death takes a strong man from the Roosevelt cabinet.

A thief is reported to have robbed a slot machine at Balboa. Just reversing the usual process, it seems.

Keep Them on the Move

PUBLIC opinion seems to call for less talk about parking meters and more police action against parking hogs. Scores of Journal readers, either in letters or in comments attached to The Journal's pay-as-you-park plan ballots condemned the slot machine program. Others were equally as emphatic in calling for a police campaign against overtime parkers.

Parking hogs, of course, don't kill or maim anybody, nor cause accidents. But they are a decided public inconvenience and they slow up business tremendously.

Santa Ana merchants and others, we believe, would welcome a concentrated police drive to keep curbstone squatters on the move.

You have to climb, going up. You can slide, going down.

Tough on Termites

WASHINGTON (AP).—The United States government has refused to permit William Gallagher, a Communist member of the British parliament, to enter this country. The action was taken, it was explained, under the American immigration act prohibiting entry of persons who are members of groups that have as their object the overthrow of organized governments by force and violence.

Whimsies

of O. O. McIntyre

Thoughts while strolling: No one can appear so twittery as Miriam Hopkins. Or so dead-pan as Alice Hughes.

If Frank Knox ever needs a double he should whisper for Bill Hawkins. Bugs Baer has a pair of wrestler shoulders. All the Algonquin crowd is in Hollywood. The Hollywood crowd spoiled!

Title for Heywood Brown's stuff: "Column Left!" Oscar Shaw always looks as though he had just sipped up to burst into song. Wonder if Frank Morgan keeps laughing that way around the house too? And if Barbara Stanwyck tunes in on Frank Fay's broadcast? Just a wonder boy!

Gelett Burgess and Austin Strong were look alike 20 years ago. No lady of Broadway has kept continuously in the news so long as Peggy Joyce. And without a press agent! No one can top Jack Wheeler looking the wise old owl. Or wear a collar as tight as Albert Mander of the Sulka staff.

Add constant companions: Vincent Astor and his sister's divorced husband Prince Obolensky. The old Friars club is taking on a haunted look. Theodore, the famed head waiter, in his morning coat with lapel carnation. And last of the pearl grey derbyists, William Goadby Lowy.

Never see a white suit or a billiard table that I don't think of Mark Twain. The wag, Ray Perkins, and his authoress sister, Mrs. Fulton Oursler. With every page one marital mixup "No. 21" seems to winnow a mention. Those Ned Sparkes studying the racing forms and dreaming the futile dream. But don't we all?

Rummaging through an old desk drawer today I came upon a note. I once wrote Will Rogers reading: "Dear Bill: Why don't you write a Sunday piece on vittles you like. Food as a topic is usually a hell ringer. 'Across it he had scrawled: 'Pot likker, corn pone, middlings, turnip greens and chili—and that's all I'd have to say.' And that is enough for even Brillat-Savarin to say.

I never fail to obey the "step up a little closer, gentls" of the pitch man. Last evening, on West 46th street, I was pressing up when I felt a tug at a hip wallet. In a flash I grabbed a hand. And turned to look into the white face of a good looking boy, certainly not more than 19. He was stricken with the most agonizing expression I ever beheld. I don't know which was the more embarrassed, I dropped the hand and walked away waving with a faint giddiness. Somehow, I feel sure, it was his first attempt at picking pockets.

In big and minor crises, the human mind so often moves sluggishly. There was something I might have said or done for that young man that, not beyond possibilities, might have veered him from a dangerous road. An empty stomach and a wallet within easy reach is a temptation no person dares say he would resist. And should this, by some miraculous chance reach the lad's eye, I'd like to talk things over with him in the strictest confidence. He has nothing to fear and maybe something to gain.

Motto: Carved on the table in the bar of a certain club is this quotation—I think from Twelfth Night: "Put thyself into the trick of singularity!"

Reflection: I sometimes wonder whence comes the paste with which labels are stuck on bottles and the paper on cigar boxes so sentimental you can soak them forever and still there's always one little corner that clings. Not many men can tear the band off a cigar in less than four strokes.

And as an enthusiast for cellophane in its place, I think there should be an anti-Cellophane league. The war should begin on things that do not need cellophane at all—such as tins of tobacco. However, we should spare the cellophane wrapped girls, water proofed against a rainy day. Their transparency gives them a ghost-like effect. Something worthwhile out of a London fog that would have caught Ziegfeld's eye.

This seems one of my quixotic days for righting world wrongs. And, while I'm at it, cannot something be done about those waiter captains who bring the silver melt dish and lift the lid, for you to take a peek and pay him a trade last? Such as: "Splendid!" Some day I'm going to use the restaurant by shrieking: "Take it away, it looks terrible!"

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

EDITOR'S NOTE:—It is Robert S. Allen of the Pearson-Allen team who is touring with Governor Landon and writing his personal impressions. Today Drew Pearson, who has been holding the fort in Washington, writes a personal letter to his Merry-Go-Round partner covering the reactions to Bob Allen's reports.)

WASHINGTON.—Dear Bob: I don't know whether it is the heat or the fact that Dan Roper has come back from Europe, but I am getting a bit bored trying to straighten out the trail of dissension you have left behind you with your stories on Alfred M. Landon.

About all I have been doing since you went on tour is to sit at a typewriter answering letters from people who claim that you are guilty of invidious and devastating propaganda against the Alf, or that you are sickeningly pro-Landon and have buttered him up beyond all recognition.

Apparently, Mr. Allen, you have not learned that you cannot please all of the people all of the time, and your punishment should be to come back here immediately and answer these letters yourself.

Here, for instance, is a little epistle from A. Warner, 11406 Detroit avenue, Cleveland, who writes: "I don't know what your deal with the New Deal, but frankly your pro-Landon attitude of late has left me pretty disgusted with you. How much have these Republicans ponied up to buy you out?"

Will you please wire me, day press collect, Mr. Allen, the exact amount you received. After all, I am entitled to my half.

PRO-ROOSEVELT.—Here is another from M. C. Hull, Bryn Mawr, Pa., who says: "These underhand cracks you have been taking at Governor Landon only go to prove what some of us allways have thought about you, that you have sold out, lock, stock, and barrel to Roosevelt."

Does that mean, Bob, that you've been collecting from both sides and not telling me about it?

STABBING ROOSEVELT.—Also a letter from Col. Carl Miller in Texarkana, Tex., who says: "Down in this part of the country we believe that a man's family should not be held against him and that your articles about the Roosevelt family were a mean, dirty way of stabbing the President in the back."

And another from Jeff G. Jones, 1900 West Tenth street, Dallas, Tex., who writes: "I'll save the rest to show you when you get back. There have also been, as usual, some letters about Mrs. Roosevelt. One from A. M. Brown, Kittery Point, Me., asks whether it is true that Mrs. Roosevelt once entertained a group of girls from a reformatory school at tea. Answered as follows: Mrs. Roosevelt did entertain some girls from a nearby reformatory school at the White House last spring. Stephen Early, the President's secretary, tried to dissuade her from doing so, pointing out that the time and that the public impression would be unfavorable. Mrs.

MRS. ROOSEVELT MAIL.—That's only a small part of the political squawks. I'll save the rest to show you when you get back. There have also been, as usual, some letters about Mrs. Roosevelt. One from A. M. Brown, Kittery Point, Me., asks whether it is true that Mrs. Roosevelt once entertained a group of girls from a reformatory school at tea. Answered as follows: Mrs. Roosevelt did entertain some girls from a nearby reformatory school at the White House last spring. Stephen Early, the President's secretary, tried to dissuade her from doing so, pointing out that the time and that the public impression would be unfavorable. Mrs.

There are a lot of other letters here, but I will answer them in the conventional way. Meanwhile, if this reaches you before you have left the Landon barnstorming trip, will you please tell the governor that I used to come from Kansas myself, but am not responsible for either the cracks or the bouquets recently hurled in his direction?

Your hot and heterogeneous partner,

DREW.

Note—Here are some more answers to inquiries. Address all letters to Washington Merry-Go-Round, Washington, D. C., but don't send any more until Mr. Allen gets back. D. P.

W. B. New York—George Combs, new director of the National Emergency Council for New York state, comes from Kansas City, where he was a famous high school orator, and jumped into congress as its youngest member. George is a hard worker, and extremely efficient. Still he finds time to be a bit of a playboy.

M. C. D., Seattle—Senator McNary, Republican leader of the senate, probably has the blessing of congress as its youngest member. It is possible for a Democratic president to give it without saying so openly. Roosevelt and McNary are old friends and have similar views.

V. G., Cleveland—The quotation, "a president like this too expensive a luxury for the country to indulge in more than once," was spoken of Lincoln in the last days of his first term.

The street lighting question is not yet quite settled, although at the meeting of the city council last night the matter seemed to edge up a little nearer the sticking point, as Trustee Grubb got a tentative offer from the Southern California Edison company to sell out its distributing system and also a rate for power delivered by meter.

Governor Johnson yesterday announced the appointment of J. P. Baumgartner, Santa Ana editor, as a member of the state conservation commission.

Mrs. Addie Collins entertained friends from Los Angeles at dinner last evening. Besides the family, covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ammon and M. S. Cox. The evening was spent with conversation.

The Royal Neighbors gave their retiring recorder, Mrs. Addie Chapman, a complete and delightful surprise at their regular meeting last night. Mrs. Chapman leaves soon for Los Angeles, where she has built a beautiful home. Presented with a beautiful painted plate, the orator, Mrs. M. Toller, making a neat speech.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Neff are enjoying a few days' visit with their cousin, Mrs. Owen Carpenter, who arrived this morning from Manila, Ind.

Mrs. Sarah Ostot and her daughter, Mrs. W. J. Gram, Springfield, O., went to Newport today to spend a week. They spent last week at Huntington Beach.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Government Should Help, Not Hinder Folks

THE AMERICAN people are a patriotic, long-suffering lot. They permit the building up of governmental powers, which shackle their movements and hinder their progress. They seem content with the crumbs of existence instead of the abundance which might be theirs. They permit political pilferers to filch their substance. The long hand of government reaches into every man's pocket, abstracting therefrom the proceeds of his labor, proceeds which should go into channels of trade. When common folks are concerned about supplying bread and clothing to their children, thereby stimulating legitimate business, the tax-gatherer thwarts their worthy purposes.

Everyone knows that government costs too much, much too much. That the returns are out of proportion to the burdens. That much better service could be rendered on considerably less expense. All of us are aware that governmental burdens have mounted alarmingly, in steady procession with the passing years. Some few souls have been tossed to the people, but by and large, common folks are yet hungry and, for them the machine age has fallen far short in its blessings.

And the trouble lies, to a large extent, in the ravenous appetite of the government itself. It sucks the people's substance into a yawning

IT WAS A PLEASURE

To the editor: As publicity director for the year 1935-36 just completed by the Joseph Rodman unit No. 133, American Legion Auxiliary, I wish to join with the members of the unit to thank you for your generous news space given to our unit, especially on Poppy Day program. We appreciate such understanding and cooperation.

ADAH KIRKPATRICK, Huntington Beach.

WANTS POLICE TO ACT

To the Editor: I will write you my idea on the parking meters. I think that it is one of the most outrageous things that has been introduced in Santa Ana since I have been here and that is 14 years.

The streets are paid for by the people without any cost to the city. Why pay for the privilege of using your own property? If the city council puts this deal over on the people, next, before we know it, they will have meters on our front doors, so we will have to pay a nickel to enter our own homes, which we have paid for the same as the streets.

If the police would get on the job and stay on it, in regard to watching the parking of cars, they would save their money and also keep the cars moving.

J. H. BOYDSTUN, 1714 West First street, Santa Ana.

Somehow the government seems able to spend more money than it takes in. A hundred million puzzled citizens would like to know how that can be worked.

"Is L.I. Gee Gee generous?" "Is she! Why that girl would give you the tan off her back."

Another piece of hard luck for Russian women is that they have got the vote in a country where there are no real elections.

Walk your horses.

Upon taking command at Te-tuan of the glorious and patriotic Spanish army, I send to all loyal garrisons in Mexico and Spain my enthusiastic greetings. Spain is saved.—Gen. Francisco Franco, leader of the Spanish Rightist rebellion.

When a Louisiana Democrat starts to raise Republican sunflowers on a vacant lot, it's cause for political complications and investigation. Jules Markel, during the boom days, came into possession of a vacant lot. Recently there has appeared on this property a burst of sunflowers. Naturally Jules' Democratic friends want to know how he got that way. Jules says he didn't get that way, but he thinks Byron Curry did. At least the welfare director is under suspicion. Markel has tried to cover up by putting paper caps on the sunflowers.

I'll be glad when cooler weather comes along. I won't have to answer that every-day question—where are you going to spend your vacation?

For $25 per month a city councilman has the municipalities' troubles brought to him, and then there is the question of meter parking and slot machines. I know of no office that pays so meagerly for its trouble, unless it's being a school director. Then you don't get any compensation. At least not in money.

The death of Hugo Almqvist, father of Bruno Almqvist, on board a returning ship from a European tour, recalls that his passing occurred just one year from the date of the Will Rogers' funeral services held at Glendale. Mr. Almqvist was a great admirer of the beloved humorist. He was a Santa Ana business place when the radio was carrying the particulars of the services. He asked permission to listen to the eulogy. With bowed head and without comment he gave reverent attention. The whole attitude of the man was as if a member of his own family had answered the call. Almqvist's sorrow was typical of that of the nation, which not only then but still holds to the esteem of as clean a character as ever graced a public forum, or illuminated the American home.

Merchants tell me business is better in spots. It depends upon the line. Retailers say the hesitation in their line is due to the presidential election.

The orange industry and how's it going? A. J. McFadden wants to know so I tell him I'm out—that the packing house picked both boxes off my grove. The other boxes to know about the off-blooms. Gee, that fellow's tough for detail. I had to tell him I thought there were as many as two off-blooms.

The legion of friends of J. P. Baumgartner will regret that an illness prevents him from being at his desk in the Commercial National bank. A trip to the ranch in San Diego county drew too heavily upon his physical reserve, and rest and quiet is now advised by his physician. It is unusual to find J. P. off the active list. For more than a quarter of a century he has personally and through his community implements enforced a wholesome influence in Santa Ana. Therefore his prompt recovery is a matter of anxiety and desire on the part of the city to which he has rendered such an unselfish and distinct service. He is a fine citizen. I want him to know the way I feel about it while he is with us, and his community feels the same way. So hurry along, J. P., and get down town so the place will look natural.

I've got to find out what the rule is when a golf ball goes into a gopher hole. Some one told me you had to throw a ball over your left shoulder, and then shoot from where it lays. Wouldn't it be funny if it lays, open or sumpin' and rolled into a hole where the player could get a sweat at it? I've heard of such an incident starting an argument, which continued long after the disputants reached the 19th hole.

Friend regales me with his political perspicacity. He picked four winners. Bet four times. When he collects the bets he will have a perfect score.

The human equation is more or less yielding to the advancement of mechanical precision. E. D. Gold, manager of Gensler-Lee, Jewellery, wanted to "show me." He asked if I had a watch and when I called his inquiry, this is what he got: "Huh, you took it away from the wife." Well, he says, let's see how it works. So he put it in one of those Western-Electric watch rate-recording machines, and when he gives it back to me he says, "It's sick." This is the way you get your time-keeping diagnosis. The watch is placed in a vertical position—same as you carry it in your pocket. Then the impulses are recorded on a cylinder—all same as weather chart. If the old time piece is behaving itself the line is straight, otherwise it flaps and flops and the record gives you an irregular line. As a great mechanical device, it's a great way of keeping a watch on a board for a week so as to test its correctness, you can get your reading almost instantaneously. It's all in the march of progress.
